ACHS makes appointments; formalizes policies

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School's staff for the 1999-2000 academic year is shaping up.

academic year is shaping up.

The District 117 Board of Education has announced the following position assignments, appointments and summer school teaching positions.

The teachers hired to complete the second session of summer school and their subject are Gary Edge, government; Amber Carter, English I; Val Hansen, English II-III; Susan Shrader, U.S. History; Chris Walsh, World Civilization I; and Sean Glick, Algebra I.

Judith Smithhisler has been appointed dean of students and assistant athletic director.

Gerald Pitz has been appointed director of the Gateway Educational Program for 1999-2000, along with being Allendale School summer program principal until July 30. Pitz formerly oversaw the Allendale program.

Darrick "Rico" Ellis has been hired to serve as Allendale School director, having formerly taught at both Allendale and Gateway.

Robin Gwinn was reappointed to serve as head cheerleading coach for winter season sports. Steve Newcomb will be show choir director.

Johanna Slocum will be assistant girls' volleyball coach. Rich Metzler will be the drama director.

Debbie Bessette head gymnastics coach; Joe Edge assistant student council sponsor; Judy Logan prom sponsor. Tom Duffy and John Walker have been named assistant boys basketball coaches; Reggie Hughes assistant football. Duffy was also named assistant boys soccer coach.

In a related school board move, the board voted to adopt the policies of notifying any coach/sponsor prior to the elimination of their position, and at the same time allowing for their reinstatement if the position is brought back. The same type of policy was adopted for "splitting" of positions between two individuals or for partial seasons.

"We've pretty much been doing this in practice, but there was not a policy regarding it," explained Dr. Dennis Hockney, district superintendent. "It formalizes the practices which have been going on."

Regarding coaching positions, the board further requires a meeting between the coach involved, as well as the sport head coach, and the school principal to discuss the move prior to making any kind of formal announcement.

Tiffany Road sidewalks to be completed by fall

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

Students walking to Antioch Upper Grade School will have a safer route this fall.

The village board awarded a $74,942 project contract to Alliance Company for construction of sidewalks along Tiffany Road. The project is expected to be completed prior to school's opening in the fall.

The U.S. Department of Natural Resources confirmed Antioch's receipt of a $625,000 grant to be used for construction of sidewalks and bike paths along Longview Drive and Deep Lake Road. The project is expected to be completed over a two-year period.

A $142,878.75 community block grant was awarded to Schneider Company for a water and sewer project on Bishop Street.

The Bishop Street project is replacing and enlarging the existing 6-inch pipe with a 12-inch pipe. Last year, Harden Avenue and Chestnut Street were completed, up to Bishop. The work on Bishop, expected to be completed by winter, will close out the project, according to John Boldt, village engineer.

The village board approved the 1999-2000 fiscal year appropriations budget totaling $16 million, down from $17.9 million the previous year. The budget was approved without question at the July 19 board meeting after a public hearing failed to produce any questions from citizens.

A side yard requirement variation ordinance for 532 First Street had its first reading by Ken Clark, village attorney. The ordinance is expected to come up for a vote at the next scheduled meeting, Monday, August 16. The board agreed to cancel its August 2 meeting due to vacations and lack of any pressing village business.

Antioch Rotary to help students in the Philippines

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

The Antioch Rotary Club is expanding its horizons to include the Philippines.

Rotarian Rick Kuehn updated the club on developments in the Philippines at its Rotary Day meeting held at The Harbor Club on Grass Lake Road July 15.

Antioch, through a $1,000 contribution, is assisting four Filipino students covering their costs for attending a four-year college.

By making a contribution for four consecutive years of $1,000 each year, the students will be able to complete their studies, graduating with a four-year degree.

One of the stipulations for the students is that they repay the Philippines Rotary Club, thus creating a self-perpetuating scholarship which will in turn assist four more students in achieving a higher education.

Antioch made its initial contribution in 1998, with a commitment to continue for 1999-2001.

In other Rotary business, nominations are being sought to honor a Rotary Community Service Person of the Century. The honoree would be announced later in the fall.

The Thursday, August 19 meeting will be the traditional new teachers luncheon. The site is yet to be announced.

The schedule for pre-auctionplanning meetings are: Sept. 9, cut off for auction donations; Sept. 22, "book-writing party," Sept. 29, poster drawing party-The Advertiser; Oct. 1, set-up beginning at noon at St. Peter's School; Oct. 2-The annual auction and dinner; Oct. 6-fish boil, more info to come.

The next auction committee meeting will be at 7:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 11, at The Advertiser.

The meeting program Thursday, July 29 at 12:15 p.m. at Columbia Bay on Route 59 will be on neighboring Wilmot Speedway. Promoter Andy Calin and retired promoter Ray Toft have been invited to attend.

Officer retires after 21-year career

One road ends, another begins for retiring Officer "Bert"

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

What a difference two decades nakes.

When Antioch Police Officer Bert Metz started on the force in 1978, the department consisted of seven officers using old driver's education cars as squads with the only radios being permanently installed within the squads.

"Most of the time, you worked with one other guy," recalled Metz. "Then there was a power shift, who came on and worked half of one shift and half of another. That was generally in the evenings."

"Most of the county was on one radio channel, so it was difficult to even get on the air," Metz said. The force today has over 20 officers in regulation squad cars with radios which stay with the officers. In addition, the squads have lap top computers and the Antioch department is part of the 911 system.

The police station itself began with just the front area of the existing station. Then it was expanded twice over the past 20 years, until its current location of about half of the village hall. With the construction of the new public safety building, it will greatly change the surroundings.

"This one is kind of a series of hallways," Metz said. "It'll be nice to see the new police station when it's finished."

For Metz, he always wanted to be a police officer. Due to concerns of his wife, Judy, he worked as a millwright in machine repair at Quaker Industries in Antioch.

At age 37, Metz convinced his wife to let him give police work a try. For Metz, it was a coming home of sorts to help out in the community he grew up in. Although raised in nearby Lake Villa, Metz graduated from Antioch Grade School and Antioch High School.

"Judy kind of has mixed feelings about my retirement," Metz said, adding she did have several piles of sorted dirty laundry for him to do after they returned from a trip up north. "She's still going to work another two years at Underwriters in Northbrook. She has to commute everyday, which is no joy on the

Summer fun to come in form of festivals

Lindenhurst, Lake Villa both have summer events on the schedule

By JACLYN GRAHAM Staff Intern

It's almost that time of year again, when Lake Villa and Lindenhurst residents can come together to celebrate and socialize, all in the comfort of their own towns.

Kicking off the eventful month of August is Lake Villa Days. Sponsored by the Lake Villa Volunteer Fire Department, Lake Villa Days will run August 5 through 8 at Lehmann Park. The Fire Department was unavailable for further information.

The 16th annual Lindenfest celebration will be held August 12 through 15. "It's sure to be a full weekend," said Cindy Garcia, the Village of Lindenhurst's office manager and Lindenfest committee volunteer. "Every year Lindenfest offers something new," Garcia continued.

On Thursday, August 12 at 6 p.m., the 1999 Little Miss, Junior Miss, and Miss Lindenhurst Pageants will begin the festival. "There is strong participation in all group categories this year," said Garcia. With a total of 32 contestants, the pageant is sure to be both exciting and competitive. The pageant is estimated to run until 10 p.m.

On Friday August 13, Lindenfest will be open from 6 p.m. until midnight. A 40-minute show by "Magic Dave" will start the night's line-up.

Then, "Band.Com" will perform its mixture of rock and country music, followed by "Kevin Purcell & Nightburners," a rock and roll band.

At 10 a.m. on Saturday August 14, the parade will begin at Lake Shore Drive and Spring Hill Lane. It will travel to Witchwood Lane, to Laurel Drive, onto Beck before heading down Sand Lake Road, and end at Valley Drive.

The Mayor's Auction will be held at 2 p.m. "All proceeds go to the festival's production costs, since admission to Lindenfest is free," said Garcia. Conducted by the Mayor, the auction will feature items donated by local businesses. "It's a good opportunity to pick up on some bargains," said Garcia.

The excitement will resume on Sunday August 15 at noon, where dance troupes and cheerleaders will perform intermittently throughout the day.

Featured on all days of Lindenfest will be tents and booths with sales-based businesses and not-forprofit organizations for everyone to visit. Everything from fortune telling to charicatures will be available. The bingo tent will be open for the duration of the festival.

Guests are asked to park in the old Eagle parking lot in the Linden Plaza, as well as in the B.J. Hooper School parking lot.

ACHS continues look to future

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Board of Education is taking steps to improving its bond rating in anticipation of needing to build a new school within the next five years.

The board agreed to change its policy regarding the setting aside of developer impact fees for building and expansion projects, to include the flexibility of being able to use the funds for maintenance work as well.

"We met with a bond consultant, and they noted if we have the funds designated, without the flexibility, it may affect our bond rating," said Dr. Dennis Hockney, district superintendent. "This gives us some flexibility. It will allow the board to handle things on an individual case by case

Hockney explained it was the intent to be able to use funds in the past. With the funds continuing to be earmarked for building and expansion, basically bricks and mortar, this will allow the board the ability to divert funds toward maintenance projects as deemed necessary.

In a related expansion move, the board authorized the attorney to take the steps to condemn 65 acres located at the northeast corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake Roads, to the north of the Poley Fields Athletic Complex. The site is being planned for the eventual construction of a new school.

The school board is legally allowed, by "eminent domain," to take over the property. Hockney explained the district and land owners have been in negotiations for some time, but have been unable to agree on a price. By this legal move, the price will be determined by a judge during a "trial," with both sides able to present expert witnesses attesting to the market value of the property.

Hockney anticipates the process will be completed by the end of the school, Hockney reports progress is moving along. It is anticipated portions needing to be completed in time for school opening in late August will be done.

"We've turned the corner from demolition and destruction to reconstruction," stated Hockney. "We're optimistic everything will be on schedule."

Teachers are scheduled to report on August 23 with the first day for students on August 25.

Antioch's Little Miss can be a great example to all

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

Being true and genuine are often the keys to success in anything one attempts to achieve.

For 8-year-old Anna Wendstrum, 1999 Little Miss Antioch, she is well on her way toward a lot of suc-

Two years ago, her baby-sitter at the time, Linda DeSalvo, competed in the Miss Antioch Pageant. Anna and her family attended to show their support for Linda.

At that time, Anna decided she wanted to be a part of the pageant.

"I wanted to go to all of the new shops, and I'm the oldest in my family, so I've always wanted to have a big sister," said Anna, seated in her family's dining room complete with a summer dress and her sash and

Although Linda no longer is Anna's baby-sitter, she helped out with preparing her for the pageant by fixing her hair and being with her behind stage.

'She was one of my former students and has become a really good family friend," said Anna's mother, Heidi, who used to teach at Emmons School in Antioch and also taught in Libertyville.

"I waited to see if she really wanted to do it," Heidi said, referring to the two-year delay in Anna's entering the pageant. "I wanted her to have a really fun time, but winning was not the goal."

"If I didn't win, I couldn't cry and fuss about it," Anna said, remembering mom's words when she decided to register Anna.

Anna has always shown a great ability to make friends and be friendly with people in general, according to mom.

"She has a great gift for making friends and making others feel good about themselves," Heidi said, noting they were just as proud of her receiving Ms. Congeniality award at the pageant as winning the Little Miss crown.

The fact the Antioch pageant places a lot of emphasis on communication, the ability to interact with the audience and an individual interview with the contestants is what convinced Anna's parents to allow their daughter to enter.

"With these skills emphasized, it's not just a beauty pageant," said Heidi. "She was smiling the whole time. I was surprised she won."

'Mom didn't yell until grandma poked her," Anna recalled, noting she had a lot of family and relatives supporting her at the pageant.

Anna was able to talk with some of her friends who have also been in pageants. The Oakland School second-grader in the fall credited three outgoing Little Misses, Keely Thode of Antioch, Autumn Unrein of Lindenhurst and Brittany Geweke of Lake Villa.

"They're still winners, just for getting up there," Anna said of her fellow contestants.

Anna is looking forward to not only doing official functions, such as the Independence Celebration parade, with Miss Antioch Jenn Kerner, but also being able to do "sisters" kinds of things.

Jenn just returned from a trip to Europe and brought a crown brooch from Austria which Anna has proudly added to her sash.

"Jenn has a lot of the same values which Anna has," said Heidi. "She's a really lovely girl. They'll be looking for opportunities to use their roles in a positive part of the tradition."

Places Anna is looking forward to going include Victory Lakes to visit the elderly residents, and Central Baptist Children's Home to spend time with some less fortunate young people.

"I was scared when they we're going to announce the winners," Anna admitted, adding. "I was afraid the girls who didn't win would cry. They're still a queen in my eyes."

"All of the little girls are winners," said Heidi. "It's amazing to see what 6-7-8 year olds are capable of doing. They have great ideas and wonderful thoughts. They also have a lot of questions."

"It's a great opportunity," Heidi continued. "Kids can be such an inspiration. They truly are the carriers of the joy of the world."

Anna's dad, Gary, has "little daddy dates" each Tuesday when he does something with Anna, along with her 5-year-old brother, Timmy, on occasion.

"Gary was probably the most excited person in the family," Heidi said, noting he sat in the back with Timmy during the pageant. "After she won, there was a mob of people around her and their were photos to be taken, so we really weren't able to get that close to her."

"Finally, when I got in the car, I said I was so happy I thought I could cry," Anna said. "Then I started to yell real loud 'I won., I won.' I couldn't believe it. Me and Grandpa (Phillip Berge) Bakka screamed out the windows 'yahoo.'"

"Don't be scared," Anna said of advice for other contestants in future pageants. "Whoever wins, the others shouldn't be crying. Everyone's a winner who gets up there. They should be proud of trying their best."

Doing the speech was the most challenging to Anna. "I did it on my favorite toy, my old stuffed bear, Teddy," she said, mom noting the bear was a baby shower gift and has stuffing falling out and its face almost completely rubbed off.

At the Lake County pageant, held during the fair at the end of July, Anna will be doing the same speech. which she is looking forward to.

Having her tonsils out June 7. she will have a couple of weeks to recuperate before the county competition. Anna and Timmy both had their tonsils out in the same hospital on the same day.

When not preparing for pageants, doing Little Miss appearances or doing newspaper interviews, Anna likes to go swimming; play with her new dog, Roolie, named after 101 Dalmations even though he is a yellow lab; her turtle, Scottie Pippen; and her two fish.

Reading, writing stories and coloring are her other hobbies, with much of her pageant story having been initially compiled by herself.

tollway. She doesn't begrudge me, but ly bad." I think she kind of envies me."

"One thing she says is she's looking forward to not having to make excuses why I'm not at various family functions anymore," Metz admitted.

"It's been a pleasure working with Bill the past 21 years," said Chief Charlie Watkins, noting he was a sergeant and was in on Metz initial hiring interview. "Anyone who has served 21 years in the police business is to be commended."

"Bill has done his duty for the community," Watkins continued. "When looking back, there are certain memories which come forward and it makes you kind of wish it wasn't over."

"Twenty-one years, for anyone who can do it, is to be commended at the highest level," Watkins said, noting Metz is one of just four officers who have ever retired from the Antioch department during Watkins 23 years with the force. "Not a lot of people who start out in this business are able to go through to retirement."

Metz also served two terms on the Illinois State Council. Through Metz leadership and efforts, the local chapter has been sited as number one in the state for four of the past five years.

"We have a big kids outing in the fall, which is the largest in the state," Metz said, noting 225 children attended last year. "We not only enjoy the sport of hunting, but were the number one conservation organization in the country."

In looking back at changes, Metz notes the village of Antioch has grown from about 1,200 people in the 70's, to over 6,000 in the recent census. Antioch patrols has also expanded, with additional housing and industrial areas coming to the community, along with an expanded business district.

"I remember when we used to take the business owners home, or we'd stop at the bank so they could make their deposit, then take them home," Metz recalled, drawing smiles and a confirming head shake from Watkins.

"The change in the drinking age (Wisconsin upping to 21) was nice to see," Metz said of one of the most significant differences he witnessed. "This area caught the brunt of people going across the border. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights were real-

"Domestic violence calls are tough," Metz said, seeing the great improvement in the laws helping considerably. "Most of the time, it's a no-win situation, both sides are wrong in some respect. You go in there as a peace keeper, and neither one is happy you're there."

Recalling some of the more unusual calls which Metz has been involved in, catching a bat flying around a house with his gloved hand was one that brought a chuckle. "I've had several raccoons in houses," he added.

The small group of stores located at Routes 59 and 173 was the location of a burglary attempt. "When I pulled up, I saw the suspect moving up on the roof," Metz said, noting Watkins was still on patrol at the time and was in on the call. "I climbed up on the roof and looked all over, we couldn't find him. We knew he hadn't jumped off the other side."

"Then I saw a hole in the air conditioning unit," Metz explained. "One of the officers inside saw a metal rod move from the air conditioner, and we knew he was in there. It took a couple of hours to get him out, and when he did he was completely covered with black dirt."

Getting into police work is a lot different in the 90's then back when Metz was hired. "Nowadays, schooling is very important," he explained, citing the College of Lake County associates degree in law enforcement as a prime example. "It's almost 100 percent testing. Before there was some testing involved, but it used to be like applying for any job anywhere else."

The pay for a starting officer has increased greatly. In 1978, Metz started at $12,800. A new officer today starts at $32,000-$33,000.

Women becoming a part of the force is another move Metz has seen. Antioch has two female officers, one part-time and one full-time, although she is on maternity leave.

A milestone achieved by Metz during his term of service was being a FBI certified firearms instructor.

After serving the Antioch citizens, Metz is looking forward to spending more time with his wife, as well as his daughter, Ann Greenlee, her husband, and his two grandsons, Jeff and Michael.

Is Miss Antioch's future stop the White House?

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ Staff Reporter

Accepting the challenge and realization it will entail considerable work, as well as be a lot of fun, is what 1999 Miss Antioch Jenn Kerner is looking forward to.

The 16-year-old Antioch Community High School (ACHS) senior this fall admits she was "very surprised" when she ended up being selected as the queen.

"A lot of my friends signed up, so I decided it would be a good experience and a lot of fun," Kerner said. "I had talked about doing it in the past, but I was just old enough this year."

The 1999 Junior Prom Queen informed her boyfriend, Matt Luczkowiak, she decided to enter the pageant.

"He was surprised, and worried," Kerner explained. "He knew I'd be busy a lot, but he was very excited for me at the same time. He was also concerned it might go to my head some."

An aspiring politician, Kerner is involved in student government at ACHS currently serving as student council president and a member of the National Honor Society.

Kerner has an interest in singing and performing, as she is a member of the madrigal and show choirs at school. When not busy rehearsing or attending some type of meetings or queen related activities, Kerner works as a waitress at her family's former business, The Red School Cafe on Route 45 in Antioch.

"I love singing, but I don't know if I could go as far there," Kerner ad-mits. "I'm thinking about doing the talent contest at the county fair."

'I would like to go into politics eventually," Kerner explains. "I've been in student government a long time."

"I started off wanting to be an attorney," Kerner continued. "But I thought it'd be a little repetitive. I don't know if I'll get into local or federal politics yet. It depends upon family and where I'm at regarding having a family."

Kerner's mother, Cheryl, was surprised, yet pleased along with admittedly being a little concerned because her daughter is already very active with a lot to do.

"Mom's very excited," Kerner added.

Rachael, a 12-year-old sister, has had thoughts of entering a pageant, but has not done so as yet.

Combining her interest in public speaking with a deeply rooted Christian religious background, Kerner chose "my faith" as her topic for her pageant speech.

"They asked us to give a speech on what's important to us," Kerner explained. "I was a little nervous, because I realize religion can be a little controversial. It's my belief, though, and it was a good thing for me to talk about."

"A lot of my good friends when I was younger started bringing me to church and to youth group," Kerner said of her religious background. "Now, most of my friends are Christian and my boyfriend is Christian,

The part of the pageant which worries Kerner the most is "the impromptu question."

"I plan so much, I'm kind of a perfectionist in a lot of ways," Kerner explained. "I'm worried about answering the question without preparing for it.'

Activities in which Kerner has already participated include visiting with patients, taking them to a carnival and having lunch with them at the North Chicago Veteran's Administration Hospital with other Lake County queens was one which stood

"Being with Anna (Wendstrum, Little Miss Antioch) is great," Kerner said. "She calls me her big sister. It's

When not keeping up with her busy schedule, Kerner enjoys swimming and "hanging around" the beach. Kerner used to play basketball, but did not play last year due to her class load.

"Don't be a follower," Kerner said of advice to young people. "It's always kind of been easy for me to be a leader. That's one of my stronger points. If you're a follower, you'll get into trouble, doing things and then saying, 'I wish I hadn't done that."

New Veggie Tales video premieres in Antioch

By Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom Correspondent

"If you like to talk to tomatoes; if a squash can make you smile; if you like to waltz with potatoes, up and down the produce isle, have we got a show for you..." as the ever-popular VeggieTales video series theme song goes.

The show for 'you' is the latest Veggie Tales video, called "Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed," which premieres this weekend around the nation. Antioch's Sonshine Books is sponsoring a Lake County premiere on Saturday, July 24, at10:30 a.m. at Antioch Community High School.

Jim Matson, co-owner of Antioch's Sonshine Books said, "We're anticipating a great time. There will be many giveaways of things like t-shirts, puzzles, and videos. We'll have a sing-along with some of the most popular VeggieTales tunes."

. Bill Haljun, vice president of consumer marketing at Big Idea Productions, the VeggieTales production company based in Chicago, said, "VeggieTales is a computer animated program designed to help parents teach values to their children. We use computer animation, humor and music to create a very entertaining show that is designed to reinforce traditional values such as thankfulness, loving your neighbor, telling the truth, forgiving people who have wronged you—the kind of values parents are trying to teach their kids. "

Big Idea Productions has now sold more than 10 million videos and will sell another five million by the end of 1999, making Veggie Tales one of the fastest selling children's video properties in the world.

They also offer VeggieTales tshirts, ties, puzzles, games, stationery, CDs, toys and more. VeggieTales videos and merchandise are not only a hit with the young set, teens, college students and adults can appreciate the humor, silly songs, great stories, quality craftsmanship, and fun that go along with everything Veggie.

Haljun adds, "Our whole goal is to push society closer to God, and our ability to do that is based on clever storytelling by creating good stories that dramatize the importance of being in a relationship with God, and stressing the biblical values that are part of that relationship."

Last year, at least 150,000 people attended one of nearly 200 Madam Blueberry premiere screenings across the country. These VeggieTale video screenings were organized by bookstores like Sonshine Books in Antioch, that sold tickets in the weeks before the video's launch.

Written by VeggieTale creator Phil Vischer, Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed is a follow up to the super-hero action of Larry-Boy and the Fib from Outer Space. Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed is the 12th video produced by Big Idea Productions since its founding in1993.

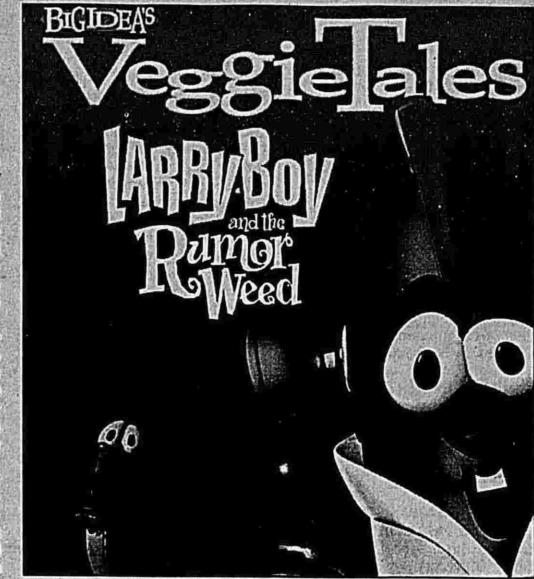

Matson said, "The character, Larry-Boy is a take off of Batman. Larry-Boy is a regular cucumber (not a pickle) by day, but a super-hero cucumber by night."

Larry-Boy has super suction ears. He's got a cool car that turns into a plane. And he's got a super butler named Alfred. Junior Asparagus and Laura the Carrot learn just how easily rumors get started when they accidentally launch a whopper about Alfred the butler.

What happens when Larry-Boy must face the Rumor Weed, a gossip-loving horticultural menace threatening to choke the life out of Bumblyburg?

To find out, buy the $2 tickets for the "Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed" premiere at Sonshine Books, located at 952 Main Street in Antioch. A Sonshine Books provides a tidcket for the premiere with a prepaid copy of the video.

For more information on the Antioch premiere, contact Sonshine Books at (847) 395-7737.

They got game!

t'll be here before you know it!
Of course, we're talking about the upcoming high school football season.

As a precursor to the 1999 campaign, which kicks off about a month from now, several stars will be representing the area in the 25th Annual Shrine All-Star game this Saturday, to be held at Peoria Stadium in Peoria, IL. Introductions will be at 6 p.m. with the game following at 6:30.

Tickets are still available and will cost $7 at the gates.

Players are chosen by coaches from the Illinois Coaches Association, who co-sponsor the game with Mohammed Temple Shriners.

The game will feature 88 of the state's most outstanding football players who have finished their senior year of high school. The selection is regarded as one of the highest honors that can be received by an Illinois athlete and will feature teams representing the East and West.

The players are presently in the midst of "all-star" week, if you will, where they are spending six days on the Eureka College campus, which is, ironically, my alma mater. Players engaged in practice sessions with a select group of exceptional with a select group of exceptional football coaches from various conferences throughout the state. During the week's festivities, the players will visit the Shriner's Hospital in Chicago, which benefits the game proceeds.

Quite an honor indeed, as many former pro and collegiate players have participated in this classic. Some of the noteable standouts who have played in the Shrine All-Star game include former Denver Bronco Ed Brady, former Chicago Bear and current Cleveland Brown, Mike Tomczak, former Baltimore Colts standout Mike Prior, and Todd Peat of the Phoenix Cardinals, just to name a few.

Area stars from this past season that were chosen to represent the West team in this year's game include two players from Libertyville and one from Antioch.

Representing the Wildcats will be J.C. Harrington, a 6-feet-2-inch, 195-pound quarterback and Kevin Walter, a 6-feet-3-inch, 195-pound tight end.

Representing the Sequoits will be Nate Carden, a 6-feet-2-inch, 230-pound defensive lineman.

Also representing the Wildcats (for the West team) will be assistant varsity coach Randy Kuceyski.

Good luck to everyone in this years game. I'm quite confident that they will make a major impact in the game and thus, make Lake County proud!

And, speaking of all-stars-how about those U-15 Libertyville Laser girls soccer team, who claimed the title in the Schwan U.S.A Cup last weekend in Minnesota. Read this week's Mundelein and Libertyville editions of The Lakeland Press for more details.

And, I hear through the grapevine that some eighth-grade boys basketball team is wreaking havoc as well.

The Lakeland-based Lakers, under the direction of coach Denny.

Porter, also captured a national title last weekend. Look for a nice feature on them in the July 30 edition!

And, congratulations to all of the youth teams. Some are finished, some are still playing. Nonetheless, there have been many outstanding achievements this summer. I don't think were through hearing about a lot of them yet!

Kicking their way towards success

Eight compete in nationals

BY JANNAN J. KHURI Correspondent

After the U.S. women's soccer team won the world championship, they were asked that familiar question: What are you going to do next?

They had the response that many champion athletes have had over the years, which is, "We're going to Walt Disney World."

Recently nine top-notch athletes from Lake County had the opportunity to travel to Orlando, too, and competed in the 1999 AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) National Karate Championships held at Disney's Wide World of Sports.

Under the guidance of the Antioch Shotokan Karate school's Sensei (Japanese for chief instructor) and fellow competitor, Anna Connors, nine representatives brought home the gold as well as bronze, copper and silver medals in various ranks and age categories of competition.

One area of the karate competition is what is called Kata, which is a culmination of various moves used in combination fight off invisible opponents. The participants are judged on how well they execute the individual moves.

Sandy Hanson of Antioch and Mike and Jon Mrozinski, both from Round Lake Beach, each received gold medals in the Kata competition. Krystal Mason and Ryan Curtis earned Silver medals for their performances and Anna Connors received a Bronze medals in the Kata competition. Curtis earned a Coppermedal and Anna's son, Graham Con-medal and Anna's son, Graham Connors, qualified for sixth place in the Kata competition. Daniel Panico wound up finishing seventh in the kata competition. Kumite (kumatay) is the another competition, which demonstrates the sparring portion of the competition and is similar to what one might see in a Jackie Chan movie. Hanson, age 58, brought home a Gold medal in that area of competition. The Silver medal winners included Mason, Scott and Ryan Curtis, and Jon Mrozinski. The Bronze medal winners were Panico, Mike Mrozinski and Sensei Connors. Connors son Graham placed in the top 16 out of 24 competetors. All of the students have qualified for the 1999 Junior Olympics in Ohio and three of these students, Graham Connors and Scott and Ryan Curtis will represent the school (and Antioch) during the games, which will be held Aug. 4-

Qualifying participants from the school did fundraising to pay for the trip by selling candies, hot dogs, and holding a car wash in addition to obtaining area sponsors.

All nine national competitors had to qualify in the regional competition in order to advance on to the national competition.

Mrozinski, age 16, began Karate at Conners' in August of 1998 and

Bringing home a Gold and Silver medal gave him the personal satisfaction that all his hard work and training paid off. "I felt that it's just like a great culmination of everything I've worked hard for, considering I haven't been in it for a full year yet," said Mrozinski.

Mrozinski, who attends Grayslake High School, said that he watched the Hawaiian competitors to pick up pointers and is striving to get better at sparring. He observed the different styles at the competition to get tips on what else he can do to improve.

Next year, Mrozinski said he is planning to go to regionals in Richmond, Virginia and hopes to be a Brown belt by then.

Another Gold medal winner, Antioch's Hanson, at age 58, said she has been participating in Karate for a year and a half and has earned a low purple belt with two stripes.

Hanson said the most challenging part of the competition at Nationals for her was getting up in front of everybody and executing her Kata.

"I've always been really bashful about being in the limelight," said Hanson.

During the sparring aspect of the competition, Hanson said she had the opportunity to spar with a Brown belt. Sparring is one area in which she would like to improve in.

Her aspirations in the sport are to keep going and eventually be a Black belt.

As the Sensei, Connors took pride in her students representing the school, Antioch and Lake County

"I'm very, very proud of them," said Connors, a second degree Black belt. "They also had the benefit of doing well and receiving something for it."

Connors, who has been learning, teaching and competing in Karate for 14 years, said she encouraged her students to do their very best and give 100 percent and focus on how they executed their moves and not winning the gold.

Now, after returning from such a successful competition, she said her students are really pumped up to work.

Chicago Bulls offer basketball schools

Kids, ages 6-14, will have the chance to learn the fundamental basketball skills through games and drills run by experienced coaches and players.

The program is headed by Bobby Hansen, who visits all of the camps and is a member of the 1992 championship Chicago Bulls team. In partnership with the YMCA's of Metropolitan Chicago, the Bulls will also sponsor a series of free camps at neighborhood YMCA's. Children attending the camps will be asked to donate a new or gently used book to TARGET LITERACY, an award-winning children's book collection program sponsored by Target stores and Reading is Fundamental (RIF) Chicago.

The next camp coming to the area will be held at Warren Township High School (O'Plaine Road campus) in Gurnee, August 2-6 from 8:30 a.m.-noon.

Cooperative purchase extends Route of Des Plaines River Trail

The Des Plaines River (DPR) Trail will continue its journey along the western bank of its namesake river at the Ryerson Conservation Area near Lincolnshire following approval of a land purchase by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their last meeting.

COMMUNITY

The Lake County Forest Preserves purchased 0.32 acres, known as the LeBiedz parcel, for $7,000. The property is between Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21) and the Des Plaines River. It is part of an effort undertaken by the Forest Preserve District in 1997 to acquire 14 parcels, ranging in size from 0.1 to 3.7 acres and totaling 16.55 acres, to provide a route for the DPR trail. Including the parcel just purchased, the District has acquired six of the needed parcels.

The DPR Trail lands meet many of the land acquisition criteria set forward in successful

Forest Preserve bond referenda, approved by 66 percent of Lake County voters in 1999 and 61 percent of voters in 1993. The proposed purchases will provide a route for the planned Greenway and extend the southern section of the Des Plaines River Trail, the backbone of a planned countywide network of over 100 miles of regional trails.

The purchases also would preserve natural woodlands and wetlands, provide wildlife habitat, assist in flood control and add to 550 acre Ryerson Woods, the Forest Preserves' center for award-winning environmental education services. The Des Plaines River Trail would wrap around the western boundary of Ryerson Woods as it parallels its namesake river, and I ink existing Forest Preserve and community trail systems along the way.

The 7,438 acre Des Plaines River Greenway, a band of 10 Forest Preserves that stretches from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line to Cook County preserves 80 percent of the rivers' banks and includes 24 miles of the planned 33 mile multi-purpose Des Plaines River Trail.

A focus of Lake County Forest Preserve nature preservation and restoration efforts, the Greenway includes several dedicated Illinois Nature Preserves, including portions of Ryerson Woods, and is also home to many endangered and threatened species of plants and animals.

The Forest Preserve Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee will continue negotiations with other landowners to determine fair market value and other purchase considerations for other properties needed for the DPR Trail.

For a free map of the Des Plaines River Trail and other Lake County Forest Preserve trails, call the Forest Preserve general offices at 367-6640.

Ex-Scout leader pleads not guilty to sex abuse charges

By STEVE PETERSON Staff Reporter

A former Fox Lake assistant scout leader could face up to 30 years in prison if convicted of four counts of molesting Boy Scouts.

Scott Bresnahan, 44, of Lake Villa, was charged July 13 in Lake County Circuit Court. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charges.

"This is a Class X felony. He is looking at six to 30 years if convicted," George Pappas, Lake County assistant state's attorney, said.

A search warrant was executed by authorities at Bresnahan's Lake Villa Township home on June 17. A raid at the home turned up more pornographic material and explosive devices.

Bresnahan, is being held at Lake County Jail on a $500,000 bond. His next court date is Aug. 10 before Circuit Court Judge George Complaints about Bresnahan were made about his involvement with 12 to 15-year old boys between 1992 to 1995. The boys were from Zion and Paddock Lake, Wis.

Bresnahan served as assistant Scoutmaster for Fox Lake Troop 85. Victims' statements largely corroborated each other, according to inves-

When Is The Best Time to Visit Hawaii?

by JIM WARNKEN, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

So you've finally decided to take that Hawaiian vacation you've long dreamed about. But when is the best time to go to Hawaii? Well, if you're looking for bargains, the lowest prices to Hawaii (as with most tourist destinations) can be found for travel during the spring and fall. Winter travel to Hawaii is very popular for obvious reasons. The summer months, being the traditional vacation time for many people, again brings another travel crunch to the islands. It's the in-between months when you'll get some great deals, and avoid the crowds.

So how about the weather? Is is too hot in the summer? Does Hawaii, like Bermuda, get colder during winter months? When is the "rainy season"? Temperature wise you couldn't find a more perfect place on earth than Hawaii. Day time temperatures in the mid 80's and night time temperatures in the low 70's don't vary more than 5 degrees all year. There really is no "rainy season", although you may experience more of a chance of an afternoon shower during the winter months of December through February. Since this is also the best time of the year for whale watching, I wouldn't rule it out.

Each island does, however, have a rainy and dry (windward and leeward) side. For example, with an annual rainfall of over 500 inches per year Mount Waialeale on the Hawaiian Island of Kauai is the wettest spot on earth. Enough rain falls on this mountain to create a fully navigable river. Yet only a few miles to the leeward side of the island is the almost desert-like conditions of the Waimea Canyon, also known as the Grand Canyon of the Pacific.

Likewise, you can experience some really intense rainstorms in the town of Hilo on the Big Island of Hawaii, while at the same time your fellow vacationers may be sunning themselves under the cloudless skies of the Kona coast on the other side of the same island. You might ask why even choose to visit Hilo, or any other part of the windward (wet) side of the islands. Well, you know all those waterfalls, orchids and other tropical foliage you see on the postcards? The rainy side of the islands is where you'll find them. If you do want to be assured of sunny skies for your Hawaiian vacation, pick Kona on the Big Island, Waialcale on Maui, or Poipu and Kauai.

vanced computerized electronic control unit, the multi-plate clutch precisely and instantly allots the right amount of torque, as conditions warrant, to the front and rear axles. The unit gathers information from front and rear driveshaft sensors (to determine wheel slippage), a throttle position sensor, an engine rpm sensor, a transfer unit lever selector and the anti-lock braking system (ABS) control unit.

While some SUV 4-wheel driver systems offer a choice of part-time or full-time 4-wheel drive with an electronic shift-on-the-fly function, the QX4's All-Mode 4WD was designed to instantly distribute torque to the front wheels — up to 50 percent can go to the front wheels on demand — resulting in optimal traction with improved fuel economy and enhanced cornering capability.

Civilized Engine and Chassis

To provide a stable platform, reduced noise and vibration, improved ride and handling and excellent body fit, the QX4 is built with rigid MonoFrame® construction. This technique draws from both unibody automotive design and body-on frame truck design to produce a hybrid that combines the best elements of both.

The 1999 QX4 is powered by a refined 3.3-liter SOHC 12-valve V6 engine that produces 168-horsepower at 4,800 rpm and 196 ft-lbs. of torque at 2,800 rpm. Over 90 percent of the engine's torque is available in the 1,500-1,800 rpm range — providing exceptional power for low speed off-road driving and sustaining power at higher engine speeds for throttle response while accelerating, towing or cruising over long distances. All QX4s are equipped with a standard electronically controlled 4-speed automatic transmission mated to the advanced All-Mode 4 WD system.

Suspension for Both On-And Off-Road

The QX4's advanced suspension offers the best of both on-road comfort and off-road durability. The independent front strut design provides exceptional driving feel and enhanced stability along with a tight turning radius and a long stroke for exceptional suspension travel which helps each wheel maintain contact with the ground over uneven terrain and, in turn, minimizes wheel spin and enhances stability and traction.

The refined five-link coil-spring rear beam suspension provides long suspension travel, enhanced stability and control of body lean, along with reduced noise and vibration. Stabilizer bars are featured front and rear for improved handling and driver control, while vehicle speed-sensitive, rack-and-pinion steering provides precise control and driver feedback.

The QX4 also features power-assisted front-vented disc brakes and rear drum brakes working in conjunction with the load sensing valve to determine how much weight is inside the vehicle. A special G-sensor which measures the deceleration rate of the vehicle and interacts with the ABS control unit to help ensure that ABS does not interfere with braking during low-speed, extreme angle off-road maneuvers.

Technology improves worn tire performance

In a survey of drivers all over the world, the number one concern was driving in wet conditions, especially on worn tires. Now, an exciting new technology from Bridgestone/Firestone, called UNI-T AQ can reduce the effects of wear on tire performance.

In a wet-surface braking test at 50 mph, a vehicle equipped with worn (50 percent tread remaining) tires containing UNI-T AQ technology stopped 14.1 feet shorter than the same vehicle fitted with worn tires (50 percent tread remaining) that did not have UNI-T AQ. (Actual stopping performance will vary with the type of vehicle type of brakes, road conditions and other factors.)

Bridgestone/Firestone engineers learned that one of the results of tire wear is rubber hardening, which can impact worn tire performance in some situations. They developed a new type of rubber compound — EPC (Extended Performance Compound) — that reduces the rubber hardening that can result from the heat of friction caused by everyday driving.

In layman's terms, EPC is better than conventional rubber compounds in terms of keeping rubber soft, and softer rubber means better grip.

The tire engineers also developed a new tread design called Dual Layer Tread that exposes high-grip rubber as wear progresses. A tire with Dual Layer Tread contains two layers with different kinds of rubber in each tread, both with EPC. A higher grip rubber, employed for the base layer under the cap, is exposed as the tire wears. This minimizes the effect of wear on tire performance and helps maintain consistent handling.

EPC and Dual Layer Tread are part of a group of technologies called UNI-T AQ, which was first introduced into the U.S. last year in the Bridgestone Potenza S-02 Pole Position ultra high performance tire.

UNI-T AQ is now included in two new tire lines that fit a wide range of automobiles, pickup trucks and sport utility vehicles. The Bridgestone Turanza Revo touring tire and the Bridgestone Dueler H/L light truck tire are available at Bridgestone/Firestone retailers nationwide. All-new Monte Carlo evokes passion for sophistication and performance

Since its first appearance 30 years ago as a 1970 model, the Chevrolet Monte Carlo has cultivated an appealing dual personality: It's a sophisticated coupe with a sporty, performance-oriented image. The all-new 2000 Monte Carlo delivers higher levels of both sophistication and performance.

"We set out to create a new Monte Carlo that delights your senses and quickens your pulse," said Kurt Ritter, Chevrolet's Marketing General Manager. "The new Monte Carlo is distinctive from everything else on the road in many ways, from dramatic new styling, to interior design and technology, to its heart-pounding approach to the performance driving experience."

Chevrolet unveiled the new Monte Carlo at the Chicago Auto Show in February 1999 in two production versions: The sophisticated, yet sporty LS and ultimate, peformance-oriented SS. According to Ritter, the lineup showcased the best of Monte Carlo's dual personality.

"Monte Carlo is a very distinctive, personal driving machine that surrounds you with performance in a premium environment," said Ritter. "We call it 'classy with a wild streak.' It can be either, or both. The side you show the world is up to you."

Monte Carlo's dual personality has been popular with buyers. The current 1999 model is the best-selling mid-size coupe in America. Features on the new 2000 model are designed to build on that success. Monte Carlo offers amenities such as newly designed seats, a NASCAR-inspired gauge cluster, an exclusive driver message center and RoomFirstTM design which optimizes interior space for maximum comfort.

At the same time, Monte Carlo offers the exclusive Total Performance SystemTM—a carefully engineered combination of powerful and efficient engines, larger four-wheel disc brakes, retuned suspensions and all-new structural features. This system provides Monte Carlo with inspired performance that's sure to please driving enthusiasts.

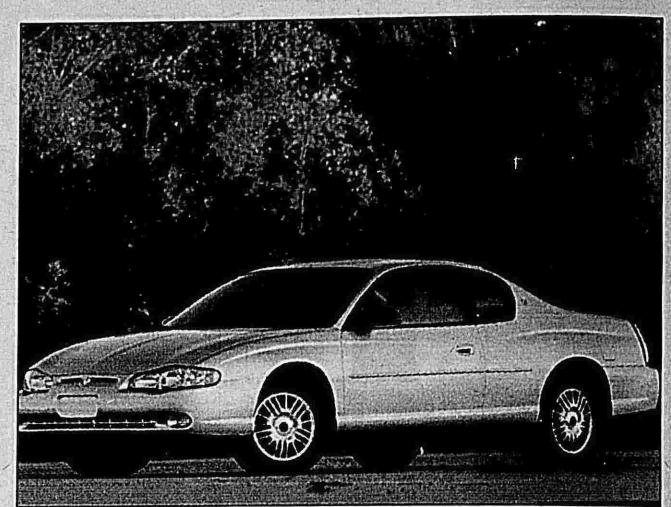

"The new Monte Carlo is like a personal invitation to challenge your favorite stretch of two-lane highway," said Monte Carlo Brand Don Parkinson. "It has the agility of a sports car, with a controlled, balanced ride. Wrap that in a driver-oriented interior, and you have a car that will satisfty anyone's passion for driving."

"Coupe buyers want a car that gets them noticed at traffic lights," said Parkinson. "That's why Monte Carlo is such a great fit for the mid-size coupe market. It's a car that you'll recognize instantly on the street, and our research tells us that's what customers want."

Monte Carlo's distinctive new sheet metal was inspired, in large part, by its racing stablemates. New Monte Carlo race cars will share actual sheet metal with the production car (in the hood, roof and decklid).

In addition, the shape of the windshield and rear fascia (except for the taillamps) is the same on both production and race versions. "Monte Carlo has the heart and soul of a champion," said Parkinson.

The 2000 Monte Carlo also reflects its classic heritage. A long, sloping hood, short rear deck, athletic stance, distincitve

The 2000 Monte Carlo LS is "classy with a wild streak."

"C" pillars and elegant interior and trim have always been characteristic of the brand.

Designers added deeply sculpted, bold styling lines reminiscent of Monte Carlos from the '70s and '80s. New distinctive headlamps and unique taillamps (a modern spin-off of the mid-'70's Monte Carlo taillamps) provide a sporty, aggressive aggressive, sportier appearance, featuring standard fog lamps, body color rocker moldings, distinctive aluminum wheels and a rear deck spoiler.

The Monte Carlo SS has an even more

The 2000 model also features a return of the "Knight" emblem and Monte Carlo script. "This car takes Monte Carlo back to its roots," said Parkinson. "It's a tribute to everything that's fun and exciting about Monte Carlo, in a modern, contemporary package."

Human biomechanics influenced the safety design of the Saab 9-5 wagon

In the crash safety design of the Saab 9-5 Wagon and Sedan models, human biomechanics have been Saab's main focus. This is a vital part of Saab's Real-life Safety philosophy, and means that all potential crash forces acting on the human body should be as gentle as possible. In the design of all Saab automobiles particular attention is paid to designing the chassis to dissipate impact energy forces away from the weaker, more susceptible areas of the human body.

The front structure of the Saab 9-5 Wagon, like the sedan, incorporates triple load paths on either side of the front of the chassis to distribute crash energy over as broad an area as possible. This design enables the front of the car to absorb as much of the frontal impact crash energy as possible, rather than allowing it to transfer into the passenger compartment. The structure is designed to minimize the crash forces for the occupants in the car, regardless of direction. Extending the elapsed time of the crash sequence is crucial in reducing the violence of the impact for occupants to minimize their potential injuries. A strong rear seat back

A strong rear seat back is vital to safety in cars and large load carrying capabilities. Even though the rear seat of the Saab 9-5 Wagon is fully foldable with a 40/60 percent split, it's still built to be very strong. The 9-5 Wagon's rear seat design is very robust with latching mechanisms designed to withstand extreme crash forces.

Force-reducing, pretensioning front seat belts

All five seating positions incorporate three-point inertia reel seat belts with semiautomatic height adjustments and antisubmarining ramps to prevent the occupant from sliding under the belt in a severe frontal collision. All Saab 9-5 models, including the wagon, are now fitted with a new, force-reducing front seat-belt and preand more comfortable. These new seatbelts feature more pliancy which, at a predetermined load level, causes the belt to slacken slightly when the occupant is thrown forward with sufficient force, this permits gentler restraint of the forward motion of the occupant, and reduces the risk of belt-induced injury in the event of a high-speed collision, especially if the individual involved has frail bones. It is nevertheless worth noting that any possible beltinduced injuries would be marginal compared with the injuries that are likely to be sustained by an unbelted individual in a corresponding collision.

Side impact protecting body structure and airbags

The Saab safety cage around the passenger compartment is made from an extremely rigid system of high-tensile steel members. Biomechanical studies of side impact injuries have resulted in a special collision deflecting side structure that Saab calls its pendulum "B" pillar. Simply put, kinetic energy from a crash is like water or electricity in that it will always take the path of least resistance. In Saab's pendulum "B" pillar our engineers have designed-in the path of least resistance to deflect crash forces away from the upper of the human body, which are more susceptible to injury.

The Saab 9-5 Wagon's extensive standard safety equipment list also includes new dual-stage head and torso protecting side-impact airbags integrated into the side of the front seatbacks. When activated, the airbags inflate in two stages. The bottom section of the bag is inflated first to protect the torso, which is the first part of the occupant's body at risk from side-impact collision forces. While the lower section of the bag is fully inflated, the upper section of the bag is gradually inflated. The top section of the airbag then fully inflates, with the assistance of pressure from the lower section allowed through check valves when the occutensioned system which is more effective pants' torso contacts the lower bag area, to offer protection for the head.

Are you car care savvy? Take this quiz to find out

Want to show the car buffs in your neighborhood how much you know about cars? You can bone up with this true-false quiz from the Car Care Council. Six correct is passing, 8 is great and 10 classifies you as an expert.

1. You've always used regular (87 octane) gas in your 3 year old car, but now you can hear it "ping" when you accelerate. It's time to switch to a higher grade of gas.

True False

2. Tires should be inflated to the maximum pressure stated on the sidewall.

3. Your air conditioner keeps blowing fuses. Until a mechanic can check it out, you can install one of a higher rating so long as it does not exceed 35 amps.

True False

4. Your engine has overheated due to a radiator leak. This condition also could damage the transmission.

- True False

5. A tire's life may be cut in half when it's overheats, so does the transmission. out of balance. At 60 mph one ounce out of balance has the effect of a six pound weight on the rim of the wheel.

True False

Oil is leaking from one shock absorber. This fluid can be "topped off" by your mechanic until he is able to replace the entire unit.

True False

7. For safe driving on a rainy night, clear vision depends upon just three factors: all lights working, a clean windshield and good windshield wipers.

False

8. The oxygen sensor is part of your car's air conditioning system.

True False

9. Blue smoke from your car's tailpipe is a sign you may have worn piston rings or

10. Red fluid leaking under your car may be from your transmission.

True False ANSWERS TO THE CAR CARE QUIZ

1. False. Upgrading fuel generally is an expensive and unsatisfactory remedy for a"pinging" engine. A better investment would be a diagnostic checkup by an experienced technician.

2. False. For long tire life and best gas mileage keep tires inflated as recommended on a sticker whose location will be specified in the owners manual, not on the sidewall of the tire.

3. False. The purpose of a fuse or circuit breaker is to prevent damaging equipment or starting a fire by overloading the circuit. Be -sure to correct the cause of the problem before installing a new fuse and use a fuse of the specified amperage rating.

4. True. The automatic transmission is cooled by the engine cooling system. When it

False. Centrifugal force causes one ounce of weight to become 12 pounds at 60 mph. That not only damages the tire tread, it also accelerates wear of steering and suspension parts.

6. False. Because a shock absorber or strut is sealed, it cannot be refilled. It must be replaced and, for best ride control, shocks should be replaced in pairs.

7. False. Good eyesight is your FIRST requirement for safe driving under any condi-

8. False. The oxygen sensor is part of the emission control system.

9. True. The blue exhaust smoke comes from burning oil that works past worn piston rings and/or valve guides into the engine. Black smoke is a sign of poor combustion.

10. True. A defective seal is the most common cause of transmission fluid.

Lake County's Camp Duncan unites campers, counselors and community

By STEVE PETERSON Saff Reporter

ooking out from Camp Duncan director Kim Kiser's office, it is easy to appreciate the beauty of the historic Ingleside camp site.

Children on summer camp can be seen boating, donning lifejackets for a swim, or just playing around on a hot Wednesday afternoon.

Counselors seem to be having as much fun as the youngsters.

'Recognizing the different needs of children is critical. Counselors have to be flexible to the point of putting their needs aside.'

> Kim Kiser Camp Duncan Director

Brad Wolf is back again at Camp Duncan as a counselor, after having an enjoyable first-two years.

"A friend introduced me to Camp Duncan and I started with her. At first, it was a little scary, but it has progressed to the point where I love this place," Wolf said. He is in his third year.

He sees much growth in the youth who he greeted back in 1997, now in their third year at camp as well.

"As they are older, you could tell they are more responsible," Wolf, who is from Kokomo, Ind., said.

"The last day of camp is a tough one," he said.
The day begins with a flag raising at 8:15 a.m., followed by many activities from soccer to tower climbing—all before lunch. The afternoon includes swims and boat rides and store time, where souvenirs can be purchased.

Daily activities include: swim lessons, row boating, arts and crafts, games and sports, songs and skits, water games, theme days, fun days, family nights, climbing tower, water carnival, team course, field trips, canoeing, sailing surf bikes.

"The camp has a lot of tradition," Kiser said.

of the Addressograph Company, donated the 368 acres for camp use, including a 65-acre lake, in 1921.

"His biggest thing was to help children. He wanted to help the youth on the west side of Chicago. It was a boys only camp —they came by train and on backs of farm trucks," Kiser said.

The camp fits well with the YMCA mission of "Partnering with parents to teach the core values of caring, honesty, respect and responsibility," according to Kiser.

Today's camp is for boys and girls, and is supported by hundreds of friends who give funds for scholarships for those who could otherwise not afford the camp experience.

"We had 468 scholarships this year. That is an in-

Even parents need someone to play with e all know there are wonderful upsides to parenthood. For example, who can forget the thrill of watching their child taking his first, wobbling steps alone? Remembering the positive experiences helps us to weather the downside of parenting, like when your child takes step number four, trips and knocks himself unconscious on the coffee table.

And it also helps to know that we are not alone in our occasional misery. One well-known downside of parenthood is that having children does not improve your marriage. Last time I checked, the sound of shrieking kids and the aroma of day old spit-up milk have yet to be listed anywhere as "aphrodisiacs."

But some of you, especially you "newbies" out there, may not yet be aware that there is another lesserknown but equally common downside of parenthood:

Having children does not improve your adult friendships, either.

Not only does it make it harder (and more expensive) to spend time out with your friends, it is difficult to manage even a normal phone conversation. Most mothers can attest that the sound of a ringing phone in any room containing more than one child is like the bell that goes off to signify "Round One" in the boxing world:

"Hello?" "Hi, this is Mildred, how are

"OOOWWWWEEE! HE PUNCHED ME!"

"I did not, YOU BIG LIAR!" "YES, YOU DID ... (whack!) ... and DON'T CALL ME A LIAR!"

"Sue, are you there?" "Hold on a second....GIVE ME THAT TRUCK. Were you going to hit your sister with that?"

'Sue...maybe this isn't a good

"Just a minute, Mildred...NOW

BOTH OF YOU SIT RIGHT THERE AND BE QUIET! Okay, Mildred. Sorry. Go ahead." "So, anyway, Sue, I was calling to tell you about this ... ' "MOOOOMMMMM! He breathed on me."

"DID NOT." "DID SO.

"Hold, on Mildred....KIDS, IF I HAVE TO TELL YOU ONE MORE TIME...'

"Sue? Sue, listen I'll call you

"Sorry, Mildred. Try me later." Single friends soon discover that "later" is not going to happen anytime soon, and are the first to stop calling, especially if they value their hearing. Next to go are friends with older children who, though sympa-thetic, have suddenly re-discovered a world beyond the Disney channel.

That pretty much leaves you with only those friends with children around the same ages as yours, if you are lucky enough to have such friends.

Which, up until recently, we were not. Within our particular social group, the majority of our friends' children have reached college age. In fact, the number of friends with whom we could do things together as a family had shrunk so far over the last few years, that lately when our younger kids whined that they didn't have anyone to play with, we had begun to whine right along with them: KIDS: "We don't have anyone to play with!" US: "BIG DEAL—NEITHER DO WE. WAAAAH!"

We began to get excited every time one of our children made a new friend. Inevitably, though, we'd meet their parents, only to find that we were nearly old enough to BE parents - of the PARENTS.

Just as we were about ready to join a support group, "Old Parents Without Playmates," our 10-year-old son became close friends with Gary, a boy from his class. When Gary's parents, Steve and Juliann, were kind enough to invite us to a party at their home, we soon found we had a number of things in common:

1. Okay, we're older, but only by five years. We definitely could not be their parents.

2. We are both parents of extremely bright 10-year-old boys, and challenging, imaginative daughters who are a year-and-a-half apart

3. We drive the same make of minivan, and have cats named "Whiskers"

4. We are both blondes, married to dark-haired husbands, neither of whom has shaved off his moustache since 1978.

Over the last few months, we have begun doing things together as families and we really enjoy their company. Even our daughters have started to play together. It is almost too good to be true.

Which is why I'm now worried. Childhood friendships can be fickle. What if the children suddenly decide they no longer like each other? Then

I guess time will tell, but if the worst happens, it won't be long before the whining starts:

"WE DON'T HAVE NO ONE TO PLAY WITH. WAAAAHHH!"

And that's just us. Who knows how the kids will react.

credible amount. We get letters back from parents stating how appreciative they are of any amount. Many come from single-parent families, where camp is not a priority," Kiser said.

Camp Duncan receives some 300 applications a year for counselors, but only one in three is hired to work with the youth, who can be up to 18 years old.

"We have a great degree of hoop jumping, background and reference checks. They have to be 19-yearsold, be in college or (its) equivalent," Kiser said.

"Recognizing the different needs of children is critical. Counselors have to be flexible to the point of putting their needs aside," Kiser said.

The wooded campus has 38 buildings, cabins, lodges, an indoor pool, archery range and piers.

Besides residence camps, the site is also rented to groups such as the recent burn camp held there, the American Diabetes Association and various medical camps. Camp Duncan is accredited, an important achievement, said Kiser.

For Kiser, her interest in camping began in high school and continued as camp director in Albert Lea, Minn.

"I was recruited within the YMCA system," she said.

Future goals include re-opening of the indoor pool. A fund-raising campaign is also in the planning stages, according to Kiser.

Duncan, founders wished to shape boys' character at camp

Camp Duncan YMCA traces its history to an idea for the site by founder Joseph Duncan.

Julian P. Hargrove, one of the early directors, gave this 1926 account of the camp's purpose, according to YMCA documents:

"Joseph S. Duncan, president of Addressograph Company, is the donor and benefactor of Camp Duncan. About six years ago Mr. Duncan felt that something should be done for the working boy and the poor boy of the congested West Side (of Chicago), so that these boys could have an opportunity to go out in the open country for a change and growth in character.

"He suggested that the YMCA look for and find a suitable place near the city, which could be accessible to the needy boy. For a time the neighborhood of the Des Plaines River, near the Forest Preserve, was being considered, and Mr. Duncan agreed to give $3,000 for the purchase of several acres, but after some thought and careful consideration, it was felt a site on a lake would be more suitable, if such a plot could be located near enough to Chicago.

"Duncan was again consulted and being intensely interested, suggested that a very careful survey be made of Lake and McHenry counties, which was done."

"Sixteen different lakes were visited, but nothing was available for that amount of money on hand, so Duncan advised that we look for something around $10,000. After looking all fall and spring, the site at Fish Lake was found in February, 1921. However, during the summer, 1920, while we were looking for a suitable site, our first Camp Duncan was conducted on Diamond Lake, we rented equipment from the Oak Park "Y" Camp.

"Having a representative group of men visit the suggested lake on Fish Lake and conferring with Duncan, it was thought to be the best to lease the Fish Lake property, if found to meet the needs of the West Side and if it met the approval of Duncan.

"A building was purchased from the Great Lakes Naval Station and transferred to the Fish Lake property," according to Camp Duncan documents.

The first camp at Fish Lake had accommodations for 75 boys. The first permanent camp was held in 1921, with 168 boys attending. Further permission was granted to build more buildings, an investment of $50,000 was made. The railroad fare for each boy was $1.25, which the camp "was glad to pay." The menu at the time allowed for a gain of two and one-half pounds per camper.

"You must understand that when a boy comes to camp for one or more periods, he is in an ideal environment as he can be placed, that is if he is in the right kind of camp and under the right kind of leadership, which is the first requisite of Camp Duncan."

In 1928 permanent camp buildings were constructed, with 14 cabins, waterfront facilities, washrooms, staff cabins, a hospital site, and others.

In 1959, the camp became a year-round camp serving YMCAs of Chicago, church groups or social groups. There were 18 different cabins built new, and a winter quarters for seven-month use. 20

While out with friends, you meet an interesting person. Even though you're attracted to him or her, don't get involved. This person isn't telling you everything there is to know.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23 While you hate to be rude, that's the only way you get an acquaintance to leave you alone this week, Libra. Don't feel guilty about it, because he or she doesn't take offense at it. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her .-

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22 You have an important decision to make this week, Scorpio. Don't just think about what is best for you; consider what your decision will mean to everyone involved. Weigh your choices carefully, because a lot of people will be affected by this. Turn to loved ones for advice if you need it.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21 Control your temper when you have a run-in with an acquaintance this week. Getting upset only will make you look bad. Stand your ground, but do it calmly. Stay in control. A good friend needs your help with a financial problem. Do what you can for him or her.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20 Don't let a minor setback keep you from going after what you really want. Stay focused and determined. If you don't get distracted, you're sure to reach your goal. Loved ones turn to you for advice about a family matter. Try not to get involved in the situation. If you do, you'll be in over your head. Libra plays a key role.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18 Everyone seems to be asking you for something this week, Aquarius. While you don't like it, there's really nothing that you can do about it. Just try to help as many people as you can. Your efforts will be appreciated. Things will calm down by the end of the week, giving you plenty of time to relax and enjoy yourself.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20 While you're normally laid-back, you become very intense this week. You see something that you want, and you go after it. Don't feel guilty. There's nothing wrong with this. Stay focused, and you're sure to get it.

t may have been the shroud of secrecy that initially got audiences to the box office for the late Stanley Kubrick's Eyes Wide Shut, but it was the collective grunt of disappointment I heard (and participated in) upon leaving the theater that proved his final so-called "masterpiece" fell ridiculously short of fulfilling our expectations. This is not to say Kubrick didn't make some incredible films in his day. A Clockwork Orange, The Shining, and Full Metal Jacket were all standouts, but let's not forget that past success does not guarantee future adoration or even tolerance. What Eyes Wide Shut did do however, was make you think. And maybe for Kubrick, any conclusion you come to is good enough.

Real-life, (though heavily disputed) couple Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman are affluent New Yorkers Bill and Alice Harford, living the lush life in Manhattan. He's a doctor, or at least that's what he lack. Being rich is a beautiful thing for these people. Models are flanking Dr. Bill, trying with all their might to seduce him into a predictable three-way, but Victor has a drug-overdosed hooker named Mandy, played by Julienne Davis, in his private chambers that needs resuscitation from the good doctor.

A handsome older man takes advantage that Alice is separated from her man, and whisks her onto the dance floor, knowing she's had too much champagne. He whispers love poetry in her ear, tisk tisking the fact that such a lovely lady should be trapped in marriage.

Reconnecting with her husband from across the ballroom, Alice plays up her interest in the stranger, and jealousy becomes an aphrodisiac.

Once home, the couple act on their sexual frustration, a scene that got more air-time on "Entertainment Tonight" than in the film itself. If this was the supposed money shot, I want my money back! The cut was unnatural, almost as if the theater itself did it.

The film's theme song, "Baby did a bad, bad thing," performed by Chris Issak, was playing in the background then suddenly stopped on a weird note, and the scene ended after about 10 seconds. For all my suspicions, maybe Kubrick did this to make the audience as sexually frustrated as the characters. But he's not telling is he?

After sharing a fat joint, (overdone use of drugs) Alice instigates a fight with Bill over whether or not men act on physical desires alone after Bill says the handsome stranger wanted to dance with her only because she was beautiful. Bill confirms that men are physically driven and that women act on emotions rather than sexual desire.

"God, if you men only knew," says Alice, as she recalls a vacation to Cape Cod they took where she encountered a naval officer who apparently blew her mind. She would have given up everything for even one night with this man, including her marriage and child.

Bill sits listening on the bed as his faith in his wife goes down the toilet. Just the very thought of her with another man is enough mental torment to lead him into the dark, New York underground of sexual deviance for some excitement of his own.

The plot of the movie is utterly fascinating, but once played out onscreen, it becomes void of emotion, and talent for that matter. The scenes that are supposed to be shocking and prolific are really no more than soft porn shots, which haven't qualified as art since the early seventies.

Based on the pure attraction the-ory, who would believe in the first place that Alice would fantasize about leaving Bill (Cruise) for someone even more attractive? That's like saying a young Elvis would be just perfect if only he swung his pelvis a little more to the right. Gimme a break!

Over the course of one evening, Bill ventures out into the New York night life, seething with pangs of jealousy and visions of his wife in the throws of unadulterated passion with the fabled naval officer.

While walking the city streets, Bill becomes a target for a group of gay-bashing youths who instead of beating the crap out of him, just taunt him with names. Likely. He rounds the corner and boom-a beautiful young hooker looking better than a runway model offers her services. He follows her into her apartment, but their exchange of affection is interrupted with a call from his wife asking when he'll be home.

Instead of going home, he looks up an old friend, Nick Nightingale (Todd Field), from medical school who plays piano at a jazz club. Nick can't chat for long because he's due to play at a secret location. When he gets the address and password, he tells Bill that he is made to play blindfolded, but once caught a glimpse of the sexual debauchery going on.

Completely intrigued, Bill begs Nick to take him along. When he says he cannot, Bill replies that he already knows the password and will go on his own. This secret society conducts its party in costume and mask, so Bill stops at the costume shop of an old patient, waking up the manager to be outfitted. I guess in New York anything is possible, even in the middle of the night.

Bill takes a taxi to the secret location, gives the correct password, and enters the realm of the unknown where masked men and women are involved in a ritualistic orgy. It all sounds much more exciting than it really is. Most of the scenes have been digitally edited to escape the "NC-17" rating and well, it's just plain hokey.

In a rather convenient correlation, Alice dreams that she was part of an orgy that included the naval officer she had fantasized about Bill arrives home to find her laughing in her sleep. When he wakes her up, she tells him she was sleeping with countless men and laughing in his face as he watched.

One character is dreaming of infidelity and sexual exploration as the other brushes up against the real thing, but never truly acts on it. Still. it plays with both their minds unmercifully.

Eyes Wide Shut had great potential due to the storyline alone, but casting Cruise and Kidman was a mistake. They're both drama queens, overacting the dry, uninteresting dialogue for all it was worth. They delivered their lines as if they'd just graduated from Acting 101. And if their lackluster chemistry onscreen is any indication of their offscreen romance, it's no wonder they're plagued by so many rumors.

Kidman takes her clothes off in the movie from the very beginning. and after awhile, her overly skinny frame just becomes part of the scenery. Cruise however, shows nary a cheek. How weak to let your wife do all the nudity, Tom.

Throughout the film, Kubrick tries to make a statement about all the dirty little things that go on right under our noses, and with people who could be our neighbors, our colleagues, or family. It's like he wants to be the divine messenger of this revelation, but it's not a revelation. All he's exposing is Kidman's flat chest, which anyone could've guessed was there all along.

The moral? Better stick what's considered "normal" according to the mainstream. Keep your innocence and close your eyes unless you're willing to sacrifice everything you've ever been taught about right and wrong.

Eyes Wide Shut is Kubrick's last film. It will forever be associated with his name, probably above all his other work, which is unfortunate. At his best, Kubrick was a master of thought-provoking subject matter, making it hard to be-lieve a film that was two years in the making could turn out so misguided and hollow.

For this, I give Eyes Wide Shut only 2 out of five popcorn boxes. Better keep 'em closed.

Dancing fun at Cruisers Bar

For over six years, Cruisers Bar and Grill, a casual entertainment. During cooler weather Cruisers hosts dine and drink dance club, located at the corner of Beach and Sheridan Roads in Beach Park, has been the place to go for those with dancing in mind.

Every weekend, Cruisers is filled with dancers having fun moving to rhythms supplied by local deejays and sometimes live area bands, such as the popular Howard and the White Boys.

For others, the six pool tables and six TVs, one of them a large screen TV, two Daytona Race Car machines and a game of darts, supply an evening's pool leagues and comedy shows, and softball teams get backing in the summer.

Live entertainment, such as a performance by Travis Morris, an Elvis impersonator, often adds to the evening's fun.

Cruisers is a family business rated as the #1 singles club in Northern Lake County and is owned and operated by Raul and Pam Padron. This club hosts cookouts, such as pig or corn roasts complete with homemade fajitas.

A fully stocked bar and a friendly atmosphere, with a seating capacity up to 500, can be found at Cruisers Bar and Grill, open from 11 a.m. to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday through Thursday, For more information, call (847)336-8646.

Raul and Pam Padron and partner Monia Dobnikar also recently purchased Smalls 10th Inning located at 1508 Washington Street. They are planning a Grand Opening & Cookout on Sunday, July 25th.

Getting Straight A's in the School of Life hen I started college at age 38, I was certain I'd have trouble making good grades. I wasn't exactly an "A" student in high school.

I found a book titled, "Getting Straight A's." I bought and read the book and graduated with honors. I discovered there were strategies and tactics I could use to improve my chances for academic success.

For example, the book recommended sitting in the front row, never missing class, completing all assignments before class, taking good notes, starting early and working hard. Using these tips added a full point to my GPA.

Now I wonder why no one has written a book on getting Straight A's in life. Maybe someone will. However, until someone does, here are a few thoughts for improving your GPA in life. I've divided these tips into two categories of "Do's and Don'ts."

Do's

 Action. In the game of life there are two main teams: "Doers" and "Talkers." Shakespeare said, "Action is eloquence." Much of the joy of success comes in doing, not in the talking. Find what you love to do, and do it with all your might.

 Attitude. You've heard it before, but it's worth repeating. Your attitude determines your altitude, latitude and longitude. In other words, how high and how far you go in this life is decided by the attitude you take with you every day.

• Ability. Ability is not inherited, God-given or purchased. It is developed one small detail at a time. Ability begins with a desire to learn and achieve, and ends on this earth with death. In between you sharpen the tools you have while continually acquiring new tools (skills).

• Advice. Straight-A students learn to listen to good advice. Proverbs 1:5 says, "A wise man will learn, and will increase learning...." There are two problems with advice. First, the advice we most often need, we choose not to heed, and second, most people would rather talk to a wise person than listen to one.

• Abstinence. To abstain, means to deny oneself or to do without. I believe there are areas of life where abstinence —or at the very least moderation—can contribute greatly to our success. Here are some areas where abstinence is best: Alcohol, drugs, tobacco, promiscuous sex, negative thinking, anger, lying, stealing and cheating. I'd recommend moderation in the areas of spending, television, eating and talking.

• Advancement. Seek improvement. Acquire new skills. You can build momentum in this life by accumulating small successes. Harry Truman said, "I found that the men and women who get to the top were those who did the jobs they had in hand, with everything they had of energy and enthusiasm and hard work."

Don'ts

• Apathy. Apathy is the position in life of listless indifference. One of the best ways to fail in life is to lack interest in it. To get straight A's in the school of life you must become interested and passionate about the elements of life that really matter. Your character, your contributions to your fellow man and your rela-

New business bear-ing well for children, senior citizens

BUSINESS/REAL ESTATE

Doreen J. Ligoni is nuturing a new business where making a profit is not important.

B10 /Lakeland Newspapers

Ligoni founded Bear Magic of Lake County to distribute teddy bears to children and elderly persons who are traumatized or lonely.

Bear Magic is a non-profit company chartered under International Good Bears of the World.

Teddy bears are handed out by police and fire departments to provide comfort in a quiet, low key fashion.

"I'm a middle 'man'," said Ligoni, a resident of Libertyville who is employed at the reception desk and message center at CF Industries, Long Grove. "My business is designed to raise money for the purchase of bears and locate organizations that can bring comfort to children and the elderly."

Ligoni volunteers her time and expenses. Donations for bears go directly for the purchase of the cuddly "creatures" that come in a variety of colors.

Members of the Grayslake Lionness Club provided the biggest purchase so far with an order of 100 bears for the Grayslake Fire

Doreen Ligoni has founded a non-profit business to provide teddy bears to those in distress.

Dept. The Gagewood Lions have put in an order for 50.

Other organizations involved with the start-up program include the Lake County Children's Advocacy, Lake Villa VFW, Antioch VFW Auxiliary, Libertyville VFW Auxiliary, Lake County Sheriff's Dept. and the Red Cross.

Police use the teddy bears to break down barriers with children. "An injured child might not tell a policeman where the hurt is, but they'll respond when asked, 'Where does the bear hurt?'," Logoni explained.

Senior citizens at Winchester House will be receiving a supply of bears to brighten their day or encourage a reaction from unresponsive residents, Ligoni reported.

International Good Bears has 43 charters in the U.S. and eight in foreign countries. Ligoni said the teddy bear can ease loneliness and inspire compassion in adults, "an ageless symbol of love."

The founder of Bear Magic in Lake County is available to any organization to present the teddy bear distribution program. She can be contacted during the day at 847-438-9500 or at night at 847-367-0087. Ligoni also can be contacted at Bear Magic, 16075 W. Arlington Dr., Libertyville, IL 60048.

Homes have scenic views

Ryland Homes, part of the larger 200-acre master-planned Country Place Community in Lindenhurst, is building 130 homes with sites offering scenic park views. Homes are priced from $176,990 to $229,990, and three professionally decorated models are open for touring.

Bordered on the north by Lake County Forest Preserve, Country Place residents will have 67 acres of open space, several lakes, and 2.5-mile bicycle trail. In addition, the community is on the site of the historic Bonner Farm, and an educational farm museum will be built in the future

"Millennium Park is one of the strongest selling points at Country Place," said Ryland Vice President Robert Meyn. "As the largest park in Lindenhurst, the facility offers something for everyone."

Millennium Park features a covered picnic area; gorgeous state-of-the-art playground equipment; ball diamond; junior-sized soccer field; and two sand volleyball courts, which are constructed so they can be converted into an ice-rink in the winter. The park also includes basketball courts; a 10-foot-wide asphalt bi-cycle/pedestrian path; and extensive landscaping.

Backyard views—# big attraction for new homes

A new 70-home north central Lake County development will have an unusual amenity. All homes will back-up to open space for a forest preserve.

None abuts another home site at Kennedy Homes in Painted Lakes. Three models are being constructed, ranging in size from 2,832- to 3,502-square-feet with pre-constructed prices from $214,900 to $229,000.

"That is a very special amenity," said Charlene Pieschel, Kennedy's sales manager at painted Lakes. "It means every home has a view from the backyard—either of trees or meadow, and not of someone else's backyard. It's rare that a community would offer something like that on each and every lot, and the addition of a garden or walkout basement on so many of those lots—almost a full two-thirds of them—maximizes the buyer's enjoyment of their surroundings."

Flexible space

Builders are finding it useful to design some space for fireplace and/or entertainment niches. The living room in Centennial Crossing, Vernon Hills, Illustrates positioning of flexible space.

Medical center opens at Hollister

Approximately 150 hospital administrators, doctors and local dignitaries celebrated the official opening of Grand Oaks Health Center at Hollister grove in Libertyville. "We really want to thank the vision of Hollister Inc. for helping transform our dream of creating Lake County's premiere new Class A medical facility into reality," noted John Sheridan, Chairman of L.J. Sheridan & Company.

The first practice to begin receiving patients at the new facility is Lake Shore Pediatrics. Following was North Shore Oncology and Hematology.

TAYLOR: Succeeding at life

tionship with God are important. • Anger. When you become angry once you'll almost always become angry again. The second anger will be at yourself for losing your temper in the first place. Ecclesiastes 7:9 says, "Anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Don't be a fool, hold your temper.

• Adversity. Don't let adversity steal your success. Remember the words of Charles R. Swindoll. He said, "The longer I live the more convinced I become that life is 10 percent what happens to us and 90 percent how we respond to it."

Seadog announces new river adventure tours

he Seadog fleet, the bright yellow 70-foot speedboat vessels docked at Navy Pier, has announced its newest tour — "The River Adventure Tour." The Seadogs, which depart from the south side of Navy Pier, are 149-passenger speedbats that travel through Chicago's river and lakefront. The "river adventure," the only combined river and lakefront tour departing from Navy Pier, will be offered until September 10.

The 90-minute tour will provide a light-hearted look at Chicago's river and lakefront, narrated by the Seadog captain and crew. The "adventure" begins at Navy Pier, travels through the locks onto the Chicago River, travels back up the lakefront and ends at Navy Pier.

Tours will depart from the south side of Navy Pier, 600 E. Grand Ave., at the following times and days: Monday through Thursday: 12:15 p.m., 2:15 p.m., and 4:15 p.m.; Friday through Sunday: 11 a.m.

Prices, which include taxes, are $20 for adults and $10 for children between the ages of 3 and 11. Group charters are welcome and discounts are available for groups of 25 or more. Tickets may be purchased at the Seadog Ticket Booth on Navy Pier or by calling 312/822-7200. For additional information on Seadog, check the website at www.seadogcruises.com.

Seadog provides fun and adventure.

Premier Yachts Inc. owns and operates Seadog I, II and III. Other vessels owned and operated by Premier are Odyssey Cruises, the dining cruise arm of the company, which include Odyssey I in Boston, Odyssey II in Chicago, and Odyssey III in Washington, D.C. The company also operates the uglyduckTM, a 550-passenger boat operating in Chicago at Navy Pier.

Seadog vessels provide a casual and fun option for customers who want to enjoy Lake Michigan, the Chicago River and skyline and Navy Pier. Premier seeks to provide something for everyone, maintaining quality and superior service at all times.

Micheal W. Higgins is the founder and senior vice president of Premier and general manager of Odyssey Cruises. He is credited with developing the "Odyssey formula" and for brining the company from its original business plan to a dynamic and growing force in the national dining cruise industry. He was directly involved in the design and construction of the company's three Odyssey cruise ships, the Seadog and ugly duck vessels. Prior to founding Premier Yachts, Higgins was a manager for another Chicago-based dinner cruise ship.

Cool summer ideas for family fun

Ice Skating provides a welcome chill for hot summer days

Summer vacation is here. But with children's new-found freedom, comes responsibilities for parents and care-givers to find ways to keep them occupied. Too many hours in the hot summer sun is not a good idea for young children. But trying to keep kids cooped-up at home is enough to make anyone (including a frazzled baby sitter) a little stircrazy.

Try indoor ice skating. Its a fun way to cool off and challenge kids' artistic sides while they get some needed physical activity. Many communities have indoor skating facilities open to the public year round.

"Skating is such a great outlet for families and kids," explains Dan Riegelman, Vice President of marketing for Riedell Skate Company, the nation's leading full-line marketer of figure skates. "It challenges kids to learn another fun activity, like biking or swimming, while cooling off from the summer sun. The reason ice skating is one of the most popular sports today is because it is both a recreational activity and an artistic sport that constantly allows you room to improve."

To schedule a skating experience for your family, check your local yellow pages for a municipal skating rink or private rinks that offer public skating hours. Most rinks offer lessons for kids learning to skate. More advanced kids can take advantage of the ice to show their stuff! Remember: skating is a great way for families to keep cool while trying something new and different with kids during the summer months.

For more than 50 years, Riedell employees have developed creative skate designs for beginner, recreational and competitive figure skaters. Riedell also produces a full range of hockey, roller and inline skates. Based in Red Wing, Minnesota, Riedell products are available from authorized dealers across North America and are also distributed world-wide. Visit us at www.riedellskates.com.

Top packing tips for campers

Going to camp requires a lot of preparation. Perhaps one of the biggest stresses of preparing for summer camp is deciding what clothes to bring. The following tips, courtesy of the American Camping Association, will help campers and parents alike pack their bags correctly.

Keep the packing simple and limited to what you feel the camper absolutely will need.

 Shorts, T-shirts and jeans are staples of a camper's wardrobe, and how many of these items a child will need depends on the length of stay and laundry facilities.

Use a permanent marker to write your child's name on every

• Pack long pants as well as shorts. Campers need leg protection os, on hikes and during horseback rides.

New shoes should be broken in and comfortable before leaving for camp.

 Other useful equipment includes a flashlight with extra batteries, a camera with film, a canteen or water bottle, pre-stamped and preaddressed stationery, sunscreen, lip balm, and insect repellent.

 Check with the camp for advice on weather patterns, suggested bedding/sleeping bags and any other specific gear needed for that camp.

COUNTY DIGEST

Leaf burning hearings planned

To burn or not to burn leaves, that is the question that will be the subject of two more public informational meetings in Lake County.

The second of three informational meetings on a proposed leaf burning ban in unincorporated areas of Lake County is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, July 28, at the Grass Lake School gym, 26177 W. Grass Lake Road, Antioch.

The final meeting on the leaf burning issue will be a County Board Committee of the Whole meeting, which will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 4, at Grant Community High School, 285 E. Grand Ave., Fox Lake.

The County Board is considered banning or restricting the open burning of leaves and landscape waste throughout unincorporated portions of the county. The first of the three meetings on the leaf burning issue was held in unincorporated Fremont Township June 30.

Lake County Fair hopes to rein in large crowds

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI Regional Editor

Get ready because fair time is upon us once again in Lake County.

This year marks the 71st year of the Lake County Fair, which kicks of Tuesday, July 27 and runs through Sunday, Aug. 1, at the fairgrounds Routes 120 and 45 in Grayslake.

Last year, the fair drew its largest attendance in history, with atten-dance of 250,193. Typically, the fair draws more than 200,000.

Fair association executive secretary Mary Gunia hopes to rival that again this year, but admits that much will depend on good weather.

"We're hoping for good weather and an excellent turnout," added fair board member Dave DeYoung. "It's the only place I know of where you can spend $6 and come and enjoy so many events."

Gunia said the fair tries to compliment, not compete, with other festivals or events that might be going on during the week.

"I think rather than being in competition with each other we enhance each other because more people come to the area. We know we have a major impact on (the economy of) the area because even Mc-Donald's wants to know when the fair is so they can put more people on."

Among the fair's major events include the crowning of the 1999 Miss Lake County Fair Queen Tuesday night. Teenage girls from across the county participate in the event. Wednesday and Thursday evenings will feature crownings of the Junior Miss and the Little Miss Lake County Fair queens.

For those who enjoy bold and daring entertainment, don't miss the demolition derby events at the fair. In addition to the regular derbies on Thursday and Sunday, there will a pickup truck derby on Tuesday and a Figure 8 derby race on Wednesday. The fair also features motorcycle and

Food inspections get unique approach

Innovative program wins Lake County national health award

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI Regional Editor

When you go into a restaurant to grab a bite to eat, you generally assume the place will be clean, the food's going to be hot and you're not going to get sick from any food-borne

Most people are probably awar that the places they go to eat lunch and dinner are inspected by the county health department. But Lake County is taking a unique approach to its food inspection efforts- and one that's gaining national recogni-

"It started out as an experimental project. We had to get the state health department to approve it. We operate very differently than the rest of the state because our program is education-oriented rather than regulatory oriented," said Colin Thacker, director of environmental health for the Lake County Health Department.

Bar owners want to turn back the clock

Many establishments also upset about new special events rules

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI Regional Editor

Tavern owners in unincorporated Lake County are hoping to get 14,000 petition signatures in an effort to get the County Board to reconsider the new bar hours and other changes in the county's liquor ordinance.

Many bar owners are upset about a liquor ordinance change that took effect July 1, requiring bars to close by 1 a.m. on weekdays and 2 a.m. on weekends. Bars were previously able to stay open until 2 a.m.

TO THE PARTY OF TH

on weekdays and 3 a.m. on weekends.

Bill Kent, owner of JukeBox Saturday Night in Ingleside, said taverns in unincorporated areas are circulating petitions to get the hours of operation changed back.

"We've got about 7,000 petitions now and we're going to get more," Kent said. He said tavern owners hope to get at least 14,000 petitions to present to the County Board.

Kent said some establishments are even considering lawsuits against the county over the changes, which he says were done without any input from the tavern owners or the public. "They never gave us any notice (of the changes)," Kent said. "It was a kangaroo court."

Adding fuel to the fire were newly adopted changes limiting the number of outdoor "events of public interest" to five a year. On July 8, County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle sent a letter to liquor holders about the new special events policies, which were adopted by the commission June 29.

In addition to limiting the num-ber of events of outdoor special events to five per year, the new policies also limit events featuring outdoor music to no more than four hours and only between the hours of noon and 9 p.m.

INSPECTIONS: Health dept. sets schedule

Until recent years, the inspection process for food establishments in Lake County was similar to what was done in most areas of the state. About twice a year, health inspectors would conduct unannounced or "surprise" visits of restaurants and food establishments considered to be at medium or high risk for food-borne outbreaks. A report would be written, the facility would be graded for overall health and cleanliness and then would be required to correct the violations. In extreme cases, a restaurant's license could be suspended or revoked.

That process was changed five years ago when Lake County established a new program for food inspections. The health department stopped doing surprise inspections and starting conducting announced visits at establishments, by appointment. There are about 2,500 food service providers in Lake County licensed through the health department.

The primary focus of the new program became one of educating the food service preparers, versus the previous more hard-line approach, according to Thacker.

"The old program was adversarial. We would go in, conduct an inspection, write a report and say 'fix it'. The new program is not adversarial,'

That does not mean the health department won't do surprise inspec- is temperature because foods are tions, or won't crack down on facilities that violate health codes, according to Thacker.

Thacker said the health department will conduct unannounced visits upon receiving a customer complaint of a violation at a restaurant, such as raw meat being served. Regular announced inspections are also conducted twice a year. The health department still has the power to hold hearings and suspend or revoke a food establishment's license for serious violations found during a surprise or announced visit.

However, Thacker said the emphasis of Lake County's program is different than in the past. The goal is to educate food service personnel on the proper methods of food handling and preparation. During regular inspections, health inspection personnel educate restaurant workers on the factors which contribute to food borne illnesses and the employees are then tested on what they learn.

The program has been a success, according to Thacker. "The number of food borne outbreaks is literally going down in Lake County. Under the old system, it was really difficult to measure anything other than scores," he said.

There are several major factors which cause food borne illnesses, according to Thacker. The major factor more susceptible to bacterial contamination if not kept at the right temperature. Hot foods need to be served above a certain temperature, 140 degrees, and cold foods such as dairy products need to be kept below certain temperatures, 41 degrees.

Other factors that can contribute to food borne illnesses are cross contamination of meat products (i.e., using the same cutting board for beef and chicken), lack of hand washing or poor hygienic practices.

Thacker said the health department considers those violations, particularly proper heating of food, very serious in the inspection process.

Under the previous guidelines established by the Food and Drug Administration, which most local health departments still follow, other factors were given greater weight such as the cleanliness of a restaurant's floors, he said.

"I've been in the business for 34 years and I've never known of a single food borne outbreak that was caused by dirty floors. It was the No. 1 violation before we changed (our method of inspection)."

Last week, the Lake County Health Department received a national award for its food inspection efforts. The department was awarded the prestigious Samuel J. Crumbine award in Nashville, Tenn.

OWNERS: Bars upset over hours changes Many tavern owners say limiting that could be held. the bar hours.

the number of outdoor events to five is unfair and is hurting their ability to make a living during the summer months when they get much of their tourism business.

However, County Board member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein), who serves on the liquor commission, said the changes in the liquor ordinance were prompted by the large number of complaints the commission was receiving from residents who live near certain bars. "We thought there were definite abuses of the intent of the ordinance and we felt we had to limit the number of (events) because of these abuse and the complaints of neighbors," said O"Kelly. O"Kelly said many residents who live near neighborhood bars have complained about excessive noise from rock concerts and other outdoor events, and therefore the commission felt there needed to be some type of limit to the number of events

Regarding bar closing times, O'Kelly said the county felt it was important to lower bar hours in unincorporated areas because of complaints of people bar jumping late at night and to help reduce drinking and driving "We have to be fair (to the businesses), but we also have to protect people from the county, whether it's drunks on the road, or blaring music in the neighborhood all weekend long," she said. Kent, however, disputes the charge that there was a lot of bar jumping before the new hours took effect. "There used to be no bar jumping. People would stay to 3 a.m. when the bar closed. Now, they're staying until 2 o'clock and going to a village bar that stays open until 2 a.m.," he said. Larry Phillips owns Electric Harbor, a bar and marina in unincorporated Lake Villa. He said many tavern owners are more upset about the new special events provisions than

Last summer, starting about July 4, his business started hosting musical entertainment on the bar's outdoor gazebo Saturdays and Sundays during the summer months. He had hoped to hold events on the weekends this year, but with the new restrictions, he is only allowed to hold five events this year. He has already used two of those so far. Phillips said not being allowed to have a band costs him $1,500 a week, which is a net loss of $55,000 during his busiest months. Many taverns already had bands booked in advance and have since been forced to cancel them because of the new special events policies, according to Phillips. Phillips said he knows of seven bar owners who are planning to file suit against the county over the liquor ordinance changes. However, Phillips said he wants to maintain a good relationship with the county and doesn't plan any legal action.

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Mall decision put on hold by board

Gurnee-The Gurnee Village Board's consideration of plans for a new shopping center development at the corner of Grand Avenue and Stonebrook Drive were put on hold July

The developers' attorneys requested a continuance of the discussion to the August 2 Board Meeting.

The attorneys attempted, but were unable, to finalize all of the terms of the agreement in time for Monday's meeting, according to a memo from the developers' attorney, Robert

The petition for the development was first submitted in February and went before the Plan Commission in March, but has not been reviewed by the Village Board. The Plan Commission, however, voted for a recommendation in favor of the mall project in April.

The 22-acre shopping center development would be located directly West of the Dominick's Store near Grand Avenue and Hunt Club Road. The mall plans include locations for seven anchor stores, plus other retail areas.

School opts to stay unincorporated

Ingleside—Despite an offer to arrange for free sewer and water, Big Hollow District 38 has decided to favor remaining unincorporated Lake County.

Nevertheless, the Fox Lake Village Board has scheduled a meeting Aug. 2 to discuss a possible annexation of the Nielsen property, which is near the school, at Routes 12 and 134. Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas said the village offered the school free sewer and water and to pay fees to Lakes Region Sanitary District.

"I have spoken to three school board members, two in person, and mailed them copies of the intergovenmental agreement. After a village board meeting last night (Monday), a resident said the village will be charging the school district. This is absolutely false," Pappas said Tuesday.

Both the Nielsens and the school district could annex to Volo by indicating such intentions, Pappas said.

Dr. Ron Pazanin, school superintendent, described the school's preference by stating: "Our attorney, Bob Rolec, will be communicating with the village's attorney. The school board's position is it does not want to annex to Fox Lake or Volo. This is the first time in my nine years there has been any kind of serious overture."

Communities to hold events

Lake VIIIa/Lindenhurst—Sponsored by the Lake Villa Volunteer Fire Department, Lake Villa Days will run August 5 through 8 at Lehmann Park.

The 16th annual Lindenfest celebration will be held August 12 through 15. On Thursday, August 12 at 6 p.m., the 1999 Little Miss, Junior Miss, and Miss Lindenhurst Pageants will begin the festival. With a total of 32 contestants, the pageant is sure to be both exciting and competitive, and is estimated to run until 10 p.m.

On Friday August 13, Lindenfest will be open from 6 p.m. until midnight, with a magic show and bands for entertainment. At 10 a.m. on Saturday August 14, the parade will begin at Lake Shore Drive and Spring Hill denfest's 16th anniversary. Lindenfest will close at midnight on Saturday, and resume at noon on Sunday, closing at 7 p.m. Throughout the whole weekend, entertainment will fill the stage, and rides, games, and food will be available to purchase.

Lane. The parade's theme is "Sweet Sixteen" in honor of Lin-

School board to fill vacancy

Round Lake—The Board of Education for Round Lake District 116 must fill a vacancy left by the July 15 departure of board member Anthony Walesby within the next 45 days. Candidates must reside within District 116 and be registered voters. The appointee will sit the remaining year and a half unexpired of the departing member's term.

Anyone interested in the appointment should contact District 116 Superintendent Dr. Mary L. Davis at the District Offices at 316 S. Rosedale Court, Round Lake, Illinois 60073, or call (847) 546-5522 no later than August 6.

Lake Beach on Monday, July 19.

The Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District and other departments including Fox Lake, Lake Villa, Antioch, Grayslake, and Wauconda were on the scene to bring the fire under control.

The home was declared unfit to live in last year due to the overwhelming amount of garbage piled up in the residence. The occupant had been given orders not to be in the home after 8 p.m., but lived in a car on the property. The occupant was not home at the time of the fire. There were no injuries. The cause of the fire may never be known.

What was left of the structure was leveled by bulldozers.

Survey to determine pool interest

Wauconda—The nearly three-decade wait for some pool supporters in Wauconda may soon be over.

Wauconda Park District passed a resolution at a board meeting Tuesday concerning working with the pool foundation, a group of citizens. "We are proud of the efforts of the pool foundation. We are trying to get a pool out here that we all can be proud of," Nancy Burton, park director, said.

A survey will be mailed to residents to determine interest. Also, cost estimates and design work will begin with hiring an architect. The park board has yet to decide if a referendum effort will be necessary. If it does, the referendum could come in the fall, 2000 or spring, 2001 elections.

Inspector at Zion plant becomes law Zion-Governor George Ryan signed legislation, sponsored by State Representative Tim Osmond, providing state inspectors access to closed nuclear power plants.

According to Osmond (R-62 Antioch) the legislation is vital in preventing a post operational nuclear disaster in our community and statewide.

Under the new law the state can assign an inspector to any nuclear power plant that has ceased operation. The inspector would have the same access to the plant as the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), but would not have to live on the premises. The inspector would identify deficiencies at the plant and make sure they are corrected.

"The Zion Nuclear Power Plant may be closed, but that does not mean all danger has ceased," said Osmond. "We have seen in past disasters the damage nuclear power is capable of. With this new law the state can ensure regulation of closed nuclear plants that will help prevent potential catastrophe."

Park district receives grant
Gurnee—Officials from the Gurnee Park District announced that the park district will receive $100,000 in state funding to help upgrade three neighborhood playgrounds in Gurnee.

Westgate, Kings, and Gowe Memorial parks will be the recipients of new playground equipment.

"These improvements will allow the park district to make sure that the playgrounds meet the new consumer guideline standards and Americans with Disabilities Act accessibility by updating old equipment," said officials in a prepared statement. "The park board is very pleased to have been the recipient of this funding as it will save the taxpayers money."

Under the park district's three-year capital projects plan, the three sites were unable to be funded due to shortage of funds. With the $100,000 grant, the park district will be able to make the improvements.

Fremont Library receives grants

Mundelein—The Fremont Public Library became the lucky recipient of $150,000 between two grants last week. State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda) presented library officials with a $100,000 grant, which, according to Public Relations Coordinator Kathleen Callahan, will most likely be used for the construction of the new library.

Another surprise came from State Sen. William Peterson (R-Prairie View), who presented library officials with a $50,000 grant which has been earmarked for purchasing materials for "It was a bolt out of the blue," said Callahan. This is the first time the Fremont Public Library has received grants from the State of Illinois.

Callahan said the library also applied for and received a $4,500 grant from the state. The money will be used to bring in an expert who will work with library staff in meeting the changes associated with the construction the future move-in at the new library.

Rotary to send money to Philipines

Antioch—The Antioch Rotary Club is expanding its horizons to include the Philippines.

Rotarian Rick Kuehn updated the club on developments in the Philippines at its Rotary Day meeting held at The Harbor Club on Grass Lake Road July 15.

Antioch, through a $1,000 contribution, is assisting four Filipino students covering their costs for attending a four-year college. By making a contribution for four consecutive years of $1,000 each year, the students will be able to complete their studies, graduating with a four-year degree. One of the stipulations for the students is that they repay the Philippines Rotary Club, thus creating a self-perpetuating scholarship which will in turn assist four more students in achieving a higher education.

Antioch made its initial contribution in 1998, with a commitment to continue for 1999-2001.

Rte 41 morphing to major status nce upon a time, Rte. 41 (Skokie Hwy.) was the Queen Bee of the northern Illinois highway transportation, an ultra-modern corridor of four lanes of limited access concrete with a landscaped median providing a high speed north-south link. That was a half century ago.

Today, more than five decades of use and abuse have taken a heavy toll on Rte. 41. Stretches of the roadway, particularly in Lake County, have been reduced to virtual frontage road status. In north Cook County, where the highway was known as Lincoln Ave., parts of Rte. 41 don't even exist anymore. On a national scale, famous Rte. 66, and Rte. 41 share a kinship of being shoved aside when the U.S. interstate system came into being following World War II. When the Northern Illinois Tollway opened, Skokie's prime position ended.

Now, Rte. 41 is back in the limelight again, in a back-handed way. The venerable stretch through Lake County has become popular with truckers as a bypass to the final toll booth on I-294 for northbound traffic. This practice is unpopular with both residents and tollway authorities who plan to consider extention of I-Pass service at the Rosecrans toll booth to regain lost revenue. Another consequence of the heavier use of "Old Skokie" is increased traffic accidents and fatalities. Like all major Lake County thoroughfares, Rte. 41 is experiencing ever increasing traffic loads.

State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-lake Forest) has been pushing for increased safety measures on Rte. 41. In addition, she's drafting legislation to secure $2 million to upgrade truck weigh stations at Rosecrans and Wadsworth Rds. In her enthusiasm for Rte. 41 improvements, Garrett wants to require trucks to use only the right-hand lane of Rte. 41. That seems totally impractical

Opinion is varied on how Rte. 41 should be improved. On one point there ought to be agreement: getting the rockin' and rollin' 18-wheelers back on the tollway where they belong with the rest of the through traffic.

Dinosaur system bites the dust verything is against Mayor Ralph Davis in trying to hold on to his job with full-time pay—council politics, accepted municipal practice, economics, efficiency, and maybe even public opinion.

Davis desperately wants to hang on to the $40,000 a year salary as full-time mayor of Round Lake Beach, the last Lake County municipality with the exception of Waukegan to have a full-time elected chief executive. The council voted 5-1 to cut the mayor's pay to $15,000 effective with the next mayoral election in 2001 in accordance with state statutes.

The Round Lake Beach board majority has a record of advocating more professional management in line with nearly every other county municipality that has moved to install a system of career administrators to handle managerial duties. The elected mayor and trustees (or aldermen in some cases) set policy. Compensation policies vary from token recognition to a rough equivalency of time expended. But in no way is any mayor compensated in an amount regarded as full-time pay with the exception of Waukegan and, until now, Round Lake Beach. The City of North Chicago was the most recent municipality to end the system of mayor with full-time pay as chief administrator.

Davis has vowed to veto the salary reduction, but he will be fighting a losing battle. Round Lake Beach, west Lake County's largest municipality in population, wants to get in tune with the times and there will be no turning back now.

What voters think

Voters in the 10th Congressional Dist. along the Shore Line and east Lake County are emphatic about some controversial topics, as evidenced by Congressman John Porter's annual constitutient survey. In the most lop-sided return, 65.5 percent of14,088 respondents back proposals to lift or alter federal laws on stem cell research (human embryos); 53 percent want criminal penalities imposed on adults who negligently store firearms used by kids committing a crime and childproofing guns; 52 percent favor reducing National Forest logging in favor of recreational and conservation use,

Canoeing campaign

Lake County will have the bulk of the access points for a new 470-mile system of water trails for canoeing and kayaking proposed by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC). In this locality, the bodies of water involved are Lake Michigan, Chicago River, DesPlaines River, Fox River and Nippersink Creek. NIPC calls the system "water trails for non-motorized boating." The project will spike complaints that officialdom only cares about power boaters.

Truth victimized in University Center debate

By RICHARD A. ANDERSON

n the discussion concerning the site selection for the new University Center, truth was the first casualty. As a long-time member of the CLC Board and an appointed member of the new University Center, I am appalled by the outrageous and dishonest charges that have been generated by representatives of the Lakehurst developer.

At the June meeting of the CLC Board, John Matijevich, Peter Couvall and John Della Valle, representing the Lakehurst Developer and City of Waukegan, appeared before the CLC Board and made the wild charges that Mr. Matijevich alluded to in his July 9, column. Della Valle charged that it would be illegal to give land for the project that was donated, to the Board of Higher Education, which is the State Board that governs CLC. The land in question was not donated and State Law provides for such cooperation. He then threatened to campaign against the CLC board members, which revealed much about what is at stake.

Next, Couvall from the City of Waukegan's Development Commission Committee addressed the CLC Board and told us that if the Grayslake site was chosen, he would personally stop the University Center project by suing the CLC Board and the State of Illinois. It is apparent that he and his developer are not interested in providing accessible higher education to Lake County residents. What is not apparent is, why should access to higher education suffer for a few in-

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Graham: Has handpicked new board member

Loffredo: Will ride pace bike for charity

Deuster: Changed face of Lake County politicking

This is the Army— Private Geo-Karis

tate Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) will get a taste of Army life next week with a tour of Fort Knox, Ky. in the company of other Illinois and Missouri officials and business leaders.

Geo-Karis is no stranger to military life. She served in the Navy during World War II.

At Fort Knox, Geo-Karis will get an up front look at the Armor and Armored Cavalry in the headquarters of the Army Recruiting Command. "I always wanted to see what those Army boys were up to," the redoubtable political leader quipped.

Question: Will Geo take over the command seat of an Abrams tank? Party Lines will be on the look out for photographic evidence.

Jumping the gun

Party Lines jumped the gun on Betty Ann Moore filling a vacancy on the Libertyville Township board of trustees. Moore is Supervisor

Mike Graham's choice, but Libertyville politics being what they are, the veteran Democrat has to face other applicants. Looks like this one won't happen until it happens.

Lead biker

One of the jobs Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo delights in is leading the annual Ride for Kids, a benefit for pediatric brain tumor research. Becoming a biker fairly recently (five years ago), Loffredo admits to making up for lost time with a steady diet of summer trips. The mayor was aboard the lead bike last Sunday in a benefit ride from Lake Villa to Oak Brook.

Molten lava

Like a smoldering volcano, pressure is building on the Grayslake Elementary School board of education over a proposal to recite the Pledge of Allegiance to start meetings. Six members voted dead against the patriotic observance. Do they think saying the Pledge is unAmerican or something? President Hal Berger thought things would quiet down after the rumblings surrounding the sudden departure last

Campaign innovator

One of the things NOT recalled last week at the funeral of Atty. Don Deuster, is how the late state representative changed the manner of campaigning in Lake County for a seat in the General Assembly. Fresh from duty in Washington, Deuster conducted a high tech drive for votes in his first bid, employing such things as four-color mailers, well organized staff, colorful campaign entourage featuring a Dixieland band and thoughtful position papers. It worked so that the Deuster style became standard for subsequent office seekers.

Quayle, currently a Republican presidential hopeful, made that rambling wreck of a remark during a news conference in 1988 when asked his opinion about the Holocaust.

I also recognized three other quotes attributed to Gore that actually belonged to Quayle. We can only wonder where the other 20 came from.

The e-mail tells its readers that in 1994 Gore began a speech at a National Aeronautics and Space Administration event like this: "My fellow astronauts ..."

No way! A few years earlier it was Quayle who began a speech that way at an Apollo 11 anniversary celebration.

Other quotes by Quayle pinned on Gore were these:

"I believe we are on an irreversible trend toward more freedom and democracy, but that could change."

"I stand by all the misstatements that I have made."

The culprit sending the socalled "Al Gore quotes" to perhaps millions of e-mail recipients must have known they were being lifted from the less-than-silver-tongued Quayle. (Not that Gore isn't perfectly capable of inserting his own foot in his mouth.)

At least most newspaper people, and I have worked with hundreds of them, have a grounding in the ethics of journalism. And, unlike e-mail, newspapers have editors who demand truth and accuracy; hence, the slogan: "Get it first, but first get it right."

E-mail is full of smut, dirty jokes, hard-core pornography, and even offers to sell us college degrees without ever attending college.

And it spreads like crabgrass.

Many recipients send it along chain-letter fashion to countless

Despite its pluses, e-mail also happens to be what Shakespeare's Hamlet would have called "an unweeded garden that grows to seed things rank and gross in nature."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Billions in surplus are not enough for George Ryan n the great tradition of Clinton's "Middle Tax Cut" which became the largest tax hike in our history, George Ryan has broken numerous written pledges and given us one of the largest tax hikes in Illinois history. But even Clinton had the massive federal deficit to excuse his brazen flipflop. What was George's excuse?

The State of Illinois is swimming in cash, thanks to a booming economy. Between a $1.5 billion surplus, a $4.5 billion yearly increase in state revenue (without inflation) and a $9 billion tobacco settlement, there was enough money for any pork loving politician except George Ryan, and his Cook County Democrat allies.

That's right, fellow suburbanites, contrary to propaganda, only about $2 billion of Ryan's $12 billion tax increase is for roads outside of Cook County. "Taxpayers Last" is such a bad deal for our county that even our local Democrat State Representatives voted against the tax increase necessary to implement this plan.

Since "Taxpayers Last" was a Jerry-built blank check (raise taxes first, figure how to waste the money later), it's hard to get concrete figures. But in one heavily Republican legislative district, it is estimated that for every 33 additional tax dollars that is going to be sent to Springfield, only about $1 will come back. Even if this ratio turns out to be too high, it's still a good indication of how badly Ryan betrayed his most loyal voters.

Of course, The $12 billion price tag of "Taxpayers Last" is far too low. To get additional "matching funds" dollars from the state, local school districts will have to find new money which means raising property taxes. We are still paying off debts from the last big boondoggle (Jim Thompson's "Bilk Illinois"). The massive new debt incurred with "Taxpayers Last" is bound to hurt our credit rating and raise interest costs. And finally, there is the naked mismanagement and corruption that balloon the costs of anything the state does.

For example, it cost 50 percent more for a road mile of asphalt in Illinois than it does in Wisconsin. It turns out that in order to bid on a state highway contract, you have to own a asphalt plant in the state. That means only two or three contractors are eligible to bid on new highway construction. They make monopoly profits and gladly give politicians like George Ryan huge campaign contributions to keep the rotten status quo. Surrounding states spend about 7 and 1/2 percent of their highway funds on administration, but Illinois spends more than 10 percent of its highway funds in administration costs. Just think of these facts every time some political hack or media shill tells you that $30 a year license plate fee hike is "necessary to rebuild our crumbling highways."

Recently Lake County Republican Chairman John Schulien blasted my Democratic State Representative for voting against the tax hikers of "Taxpayers Last." Mr. Schulien, when four out of five of Lake County's Republican State Representatives vote for massive tax increases but our two Democrats don't, maybe that's why under your watch Lake County has elected more Democrats to the state legislature than since the time of the Great Depression. And that was before "Taxpayers Last." Expect a well deserved wipe out of our local "Walter Mondale was right" Republican party in the 2000 elections.

COMMENTARY: Beware those bearing gifts

vestors and a developer?

Finally, Mr. Matijevich spoke. He went on making his wild, unsubstantiated charges which he alluded to in his column. He talked about how the deck was stacked in favor of the Grayslake site and accused the CLC Board of being prostituted. All of this made no sense since all CLC did was participate in the process from the beginning over a year ago. It was also interesting to see that Mr. Matijevich was in favor of the Lakehurst site right from the start. Lakehurst was not even offered as a site until seven months ago. This concept for a University Station, on a train track that does not have commuter service, was not even imagined when the site selection started, over a year ago. This is the third or fourth development plan for the Lakehurst site, with all of these plans never materializing.

The University Center being proposed for Lake County is similar to other junior, senior and graduate level offerings that are successful in other parts of the country. These are all located in conjunction with community colleges. Many studies have shown that students using the University Center offerings will also be enrolled in CLC classes. Why put these students on the road going back and forth between Grayslake and Lakehurst? Studies prepared for the State of Illinois of prospective students that would actually use the University Center show an overwhelming majority want it placed at the Grayslake site. These were studies that were not paid for by the Lakehurst developer.

The College of Lake County offered a site because the concept calls for the sharing of facilities and staff. This can be accomplished at the centrally located Grayslake site, not at an abandoned shopping mall that might not be redeveloped. The local newspapers should tell the residents of Lake County who the investors are, has the developer any experience in higher education facilities and has the developer ever renovated a site this large? When does commuter service start at University Station and are any of the players in the Lakehurst site politically connected that would create conflicts of interest? Is a County Board member on the Lakehurst developer's payroll doing advertising?
And finally, how much does the developer of Lakehurst and his investors stand to make from this project since they cut millions, which would have come from the taxpayers, just before the site was to be originally announced in early June?

There are no "what ifs" for the University Center at the Grayslake site. It is a college campus today, and will be 20, 30, or 50 years from now. Lakehurst was a shopping mall 20 years ago and is empty today. The taxpayers are being asked to be partners with the Lakehurst investors, shouldn't we know something about them? Since their representatives take liberties with the truth, common sense tells us, we already know enough.

The newest Veggie Tales video premieres in Antioch

By Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom Correspondent

"If you like to talk to tomatoes; if a squash can make you smile; if you like to waltz with potatoes, up and down the produce isle, have we got a show for you..." as the ever-popular VeggieTales video series theme song goes.

The show for 'you' is the latest VeggieTales video, called "Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed," which premieres this weekend around the nation. Antioch's Sonshine Books is sponsoring a Lake County premiere on Saturday, July 24, at10:30 a.m. at Antioch Community High School.

Jim Matson, co-owner of Antioch's Sonshine Books said, "We're anticipating a great time. There will be many giveaways of things like t-shirts, puzzles, and videos. We'll have a sing-along with some of the most popular VeggieTales tunes."

Bill Haljun, vice president of consumer marketing at Big Idea Productions, the VeggieTales production company based in Chicago, said, "VeggieTales is a computer animated program designed to help parents teach values to their children. We use computer animation, humor and music to create a very entertaining show that is designed to reinforce traditional values such as thankfulness, loving your neighbor, telling the truth, forgiving people who have wronged you— the kind of values parents are trying to teach their kids."

Big Idea Productions has now sold more than 10 million videos and will sell another five million by the end of 1999, making VeggieTales one of the fastest selling children's video properties in the world.

They also offer VeggieTales t-shirts, ties, puzzles, games, stationery, CDs, toys and more. VeggieTales videos and merchandise are not only a hit with the young set, teens, college students and adults can appreciate the humor, silly songs, great stories, quality craftsmanship, and fun that go along with everything Veggie.

Haljun adds, "Our whole goal is to push society closer to God, and our ability to do that is based on clever storytelling by creating good stories that dramatize the importance of being in a relationship with God, and stressing the biblical values that are part of that relationship."

Last year, at least 150,000 people attended one of nearly 200 Madam Blueberry premiere screenings across the country. These VeggieTale video screenings were organized by bookstores like Sonshine Books in Antioch, that sold tickets in the weeks before the video's launch.

Written by VeggieTale creator Phil Vischer, Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed is a follow up to the super-hero action of Larry-Boy and the Fib from Outer Space. Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed is the 12th video produced by Big Idea Productions since its founding in 1993.

Matson said, "The character, Larry-Boy is a take off of Batman. Larry-Boy is a regular cucumber (not a pickle) by day, but a superhero cucumber by night."

hero cucumber by night."

Larry-Boy has super suction ears. He's got a cool car that turns into a plane. And he's got a super butler named Alfred. Junior Asparagus and Laura the Carrot learn just how easily rumors get started when they accidentally launch a whopper about Alfred the butler.

What happens when Larry-Boy must face the Rumor Weed, a gossi p-loving horticultural menace threatening to choke the life out of Bumblyburg?

To find out, buy the $2 tickets for the "Larry-Boy and the Rumor Weed" premiere at Sonshine Books, located at 952 Main Street in Antioch. A Sonshine Books provides a tidcket for the premiere with a prepaid copy of the video.

For more information on the Antioch premiere, contact Sonshine Books at (847) 395-7737.

Lakehurst petitions top 5,000 in 3 days

More than 5,000 petitions were signed in three days by Lake County residents during Independence Day festivities asking the Illinois Board of Higher Education to place the Multi-University Center at University Station. This is the new name for the redevelopment of the Lakehurst Mall, Waukegan.

More than 750 petitions were signed in Lake Bluff and Lake Forest prior and during a July 4th parade. Some 500 more people signed the petition in Waukegan. Lincolnshire residents cheered University Station more than in any other community. There also was strong support for University Station at the parades in Vernon Hills and Antioch.

Some 3,000 signatures from residents throughout Lake County were obtained during the festivities in Great Lakes. This brings the total number of signatures in support of the University Station Lakehurst site to approximately 12,000 Lake County residents.

This has been accomplished with no organized action to gather the signatures. The location of the school for Lake County residents has become both an emotional and common sense issue.

Among those who signed at Great Lakes was Dr. John Schulien, the chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee and a member of the Lake County Board. Jim LaBelle, the Lake County Board. Jim LaBelle, the Lake County Board Chairman, has said many times that University Station is the best site.

University Station became the lead act for the Eddie Money Show, the featured band on July 4. Before Money played, a sling-shot was built to fling University t-shirts into the audience from the Great Lakes stage. This brought a lot of excitement and cheers for the University Station location.

CLC students win medals at National competition

Two College of Lake County students won silver and bronze medals at the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America's (VICA) national skills competition in Kansas City, Mo. June 28 to July 3.

Maegan Fleming of Antioch took silver in nursing and Josh Altergott of Wauconda won a bronze medal in technical drafting. Additionally, Jennifer Deguia of Riverwoods placed 11th in job skill demonstration, Dave Millard of Waukegan finished 12th in auto collision repair and Paul Wacker of Lindenhurst places 15th in culinary arts.

In April CLC students won 10 medals, including five gold, at the state VICA competition held in Springfield. The contestants at the national competition were either gold or silver medal winners at the state level.

Geo-Karis creates law from citizen suggestion

What started as the idea of an ordinary citizen is now state law, according to state Senator Adeline Geo-Karis. A Zion resident's idea for a new state law gained approval of the Governor, Friday.

Senate Bill 84 requires drivers to use their headlights from sunset to sunrise. Zion's Bill Dermody suggested the law after he realized that current statues leave one half-hour each morning and evening where drivers are at risk for causing an accident, but are in compliance with the law even without their headlights.

"It's admirable when a citizen like Dermody sees a problem with the law and sets out to fix it," said Geo-Karis (R-Zion). "I was happy to help him by taking the idea to Springfield and am even happier to see his idea become law. This will certainly help citizens across the state by making cars more visible during dusk and dawn hours."

Current law requires headlights from one half-hour after sunset to one half-hour before sunrise. Senate Bill 84 will take effect Jan. 1, 2000, requiring drivers to use headlights from the moment it starts to turn dark in the evening until the sun has risen in the morning.

Another measure sponsored by Senator Geo-Karis was also signed into law. Senate Bill 1076 makes sure the state continues to have inspection authority at the closed Zion Nuclear Power Plant by allowing the state to assign an inspector to any nuclear power plant that has permanently ceased operations.

Childhood immunizations in four villages

It's that time of year for parents to get their school-age children immunized. To make this task easier, Lake County Health Department staff will travel to four communities in Lake County next week and provide immunizations for infants and children. The schedule is as follows:

Monday, July 26- from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. at Shiloh Center, 2600 Emmaus, Zion.

Tuesday, July 27-from 8 to 10 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. at Round Lake Park District, 814 Hart Rd., Round Lake.

From noon to 2 p.m. at Grant Township Supervisor's office, 411 Washington, Ingleside.

Wednesday, July 28-from 9 a.m. to noon at White Hall Manor, 1444 Wimpole 204C, (South of Route 60 and Butterfield Rd.), Mundelein.

Children can be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whopping cough (DTP), measles, mumps, rubella (German measles), Haemophilus influenza, type B (HIB) and Hepatitus B.

Parents are asked to bring their children's past immunization records. If a child has an immunization letter from a school nurse, it should also be brought. A parent or guardian must accompany all children.

The cost of each immunization is $8, but no one will be turned away for lack of ability to pay. For more information, call the Lake County Health Department at: 360-3114.

New vision implants debut in Gurnee

Removable rings used to correct nearsightedness, myopia

he latest technique in vision correction has arrived in Gurnee. Walter Fried, Ph.D., M.D., recently became the first doctor in Illinois, and among one of the first in the country, to offer intracorneal rings, i.e., vision correction implants, to treat myopia, or nearsightedness.

Approved in April by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) under the trade name Intacs, the vision implants are tiny, clear crescents that reshape the cornea, improving vision.

Located at 3477 Grand Avenue, Dr. Fried's practice is one of six Chicagoland facilities to offer the intracorneal rings. Other facilities will offer the procedure as doctors are trained.

Intacs are precision-engineered crescents that, once inserted, are about as undetectable to other people as a contact lens. They are designed to flatten the cornea of a myopic eye so that light rays are correctly focused on the retina.

The treatment takes about 15 minutes and is usually performed under a topical eye drop anesthetic.

"Following the procedure, patients see better than they ever have in years. Plus, they have comfort in knowing that the Intacs can always be removed if they change their minds," Fried said. He also noted that the intracorneal rings are the first FDA-approved non-laser approach to surgically treat myopia and the first to be designed especially for people in the mild to moderate range (in medical terms, -1.0 to -3.5 diopters of correction).

According to some industry experts, more than one million corrective laser vision procedures will be performed in the U.S. this year. The boom is expected to continue skyrocketing well into the next century.

"Now the introduction of vision implants will further contribute to that growth. They give people the possibility for correction without having to make a permanent choice with their eyes," said Fried.

Since 1977, Dr. Fried has been practicing in the North Lake County area. He opened his private practice in Gurnee in 1979, and has been at his current location since 1984. Dr. Fried specializes in small-incision cataract surgery with intraocular lens implantation, and refractive surgical procedures, including excimer laser correction of near-sightedness and astigmatism.

Dr. Fried earned both his Ph.D. in physics and medical degree at the University of Miami in Florida. He completed his medical training in Chicago through an internship at Michael Reese Hospital and an ophthalmic residency at the University of Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary. He has written numerous scientific/medical research papers on physics, medical instrumentation and clinical ophthalmology. He holds a patent on an ophthalmic surgical microscope.

A board-certified ophthalmologist of the American Board of Ophthalmology, Dr. Fried also is a Fellow of the American Medical Association; Lake County Medical Society; and the Optical Society of America. In addition, he has served as a clinical assistant professor of ophthalmology at the University of Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary and is a clinical assistant professor of surgery at Chicago Medical School.

From right, Dr. Walter Fried of Gurnee receives a congratulatory handshake from Dr. Stepen Verity after completing training and certification to perform the newly FDA-approved vision implants, call Intacs. Dr. Fried is one of the first in the country to offer the new vision implants, which are fully removable.

Dental organization supports oral piercing laws

The Chicago Dental Society strongly supports legislation at the state and local levels that establish guidelines regarding oral piercing, including the requirement that minors (those younger than 18 years old) must have parental consent before undergoing oral piercing procedures.

Oral piercing is a relatively new fad that includes the puncture of cheeks, lips and tongue to place silver or gold jewelry for ornamental decoration. The tongue usually is pierced in the middle front with a temporary device that is inserted to allow for swelling during the three-to five week healing period. Permanent jewelry is placed and worn constantly after this period.

"A body piercing essentially is a surgical procedure, but there are no training schools or certification standards for piercers," says Terri Tiersky. DDS, JD, a general dentist who practices in Chicago. "Lawmakers are now beginning to create laws that address the health concerns of oral piercing, including hygiene standards. The procedure typically is performed in tattoo parlors, hair and nail salons, music concerts, and in the homes of individuals with little or no training. Piercings are done without anesthetics, since only a dentist, physician or podiatrist can prescribe and administer anesthetics."

In Chicago, Alderman Eugene Schulter (47th ward) was forwarded a city ordinance through the Committee on License and Consumer Protection that would regulate oral piercing. Though the ordinance awaits City Council action, it is a step in the right direction.

"We strongly support the efforts of Alderman Schulter and the members of the License and Consumer Protection Committee," says Dr. Tiersky. She testified in support of an ordinance regulating piercing before the committee. "This is a serious issue. Most dentists have patients with oral piercings. We see the damage when things go wrong."

Piercing of the tongue, lips, cheeks or any other oral site carries serious risk of infection because the mouth has so many bacteria. The tongue can swell, obstructing breathing and making swallowing difficult. Speech impairment, nerve damage, eating difficulties, and metal allergies are other long-term possibilities with any kind of mouth piercing. Inadvertently biting down on a metal stud in the tongue can damage teeth.

When the tongue is involved, there is the risk of blood clots that may produce life-threatening strokes. Other complications associated with oral piercings include aspirated (swallowed) jewelry, broken teeth, blood poisoning, diseases spread through the use of unsanitary piercing needles such hepatitis, keloid scars, nerve damage and numbness at the pierced site, prolonged or permanent drooling, altered speech, a damaged sense of taste, toxic shock, and enlarged lips.

Several bills are pending before the Illinois General Assembly including one from state Sen. Kirk Dillard (R-Hinsdale) that slow would require permission from "Every state and metropolitan area will grapple with this issue in the very near future if they haven't already," says Dr. Tiersky. "Oral piercing genuinely needs to be regulated to protect consumers from harm."

Parents urged to dispose of trampolines

Trampolines are dangerous toys which cause serious injuries to thousands of children each year, according to a child safety expert at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin.

"Frequent injuries include sprains, strains and broken bones. Some children suffer from head, neck and spinal injuries including paralysis and death," Sue Sorge, RN, Trauma and Injury Prevention manager at Children's Hospital, said.

The number of trampoline-related injuries has increased in recent years with a 140 percent increase from 1990 to 1996. In 1996, more than 83,000 people received treat-ment nationwide for trampoline-related injuries. The majority of these were children.

Most trampoline-related injuries in the U.S. occur on home trampolines, Sorge said. Many happen when more than one person is on the trampoline.

Experts urge parents to avoid purchasing trampolines or to dispose of trampolines they already own.

"Make it a family rule not to use trampolines," Sorge said. "Talk with your children about the serious safety issues related to trampolines."

In addition, parents are encouraged to find out if their children have access to trampolines at a friend's house, in school physical education classes or outdoor play equipment. Parents should express concerns regarding trampoline safety to the friend's parents or school administrators.

Nose picking a changeable behavior

Hi Dr. Singer,

We have a 4-year-old boy with a rather interesting problem. He cannot seem to keep his fingers out of his nose. He loves to pick and pick and pickWe have tried all kinds of remedies we have read about and heard from others. Do you have any thoughts on it? L.L.

Hi L.L.,

Yes I do have some thoughts.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer, Psy.D.

First, even though to you and I and other adults, it may seem like a gross thing, you have to keep in mind that this little person is fascinated by all the intricacies of his body, including but not limited to his nostrils! Whether this is a problem or not will remain to be seen.

The first thing that I would be concerned with is whether you have had this child's nose looked at by a medical doctor. It is possible that the child scratched it and has continued to go back to it because it is feeling bad or is infected. He may keep opening it up which can cause him to keep going back to it. I've seen that many times before.

So, first, get him checked by the M.D. If the M.D. rules out anything physical, and you really need this child to stop doing this, you will need to do some behavior training with the child. Again, like I always say, behavior training needs to be handled in the office with a professional and not in a column.

If not medical, this is a behavior like any other behavior. At 4 years old, most kids are pretty verbal and do understand verbal directions (even if they have selective hearing and don't want to listen all the time.) Behavioral training usually involves rewards for the behavior you want to see and deterrents for the behavior you don't want to see.

Now, what constitutes rewards and deterrents or punishments will need to be decided personally, either by you and your spouse, or by you, your spouse and therapist. If you do this, keep it appropriate. Don't go overboard. I will say that I don't think that it is a catastrophic type of problem and if you calmly let your child know, repeatedly over a period of time, that you don't accept it and divert the child's attention to something better, he will more than likely stop. If you make a huge deal out of it and give the child a lot of attention for that behavior every time it is happening, it probably will not stop happening. You may actually be feeding more into it by overreacting than by leaving it be.

I have a great story for you that will make you laugh and also make you feel better about the problem at hand. It will make you feel better because no one could top the level of embarrassment that this one caused!

When I was about 7-yearsold, my sister was 5 and we all went to WGN to see "Bozo's Circus." We were so excited to see this show. We waited in line and finally got to our seats. When we were all settled, my younger sister went to work on something that she had practiced and honed into a skill to behold. She would suck her thumb, but in a way you have probably never experienced.

She had long hair and would take a strand of hair from each side of her head and stick it up the corresponding nostril on that side, while sucking her thumb. So, to look at her from the front, she looked like a 5-year-old girl with a mustache. Well, my parents had been trying to stop her from doing this for a while, but for some reason, it was very enjoyable to her.

After my sister had been doing this for a while, my mother glanced over and noticed that a cameraman had noticed my sister and thought it was the cutest thing he had ever seen and zoomed the camera in on my family and my sister. Some of my parents' friends were aware that we were there that day and later told us that they had never had such a laugh in their lives.

Needless to say, the next day, my sister's hair was cut short. Unfortunately, since we were the family that did everything together, I also had to get mine cut short too! How unfair! Hope this story helps you put things in perspective.

FOOT FACTS

From The Foot Doctor DR. GRIFF J. WINTERS & ASSOC.

Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

BUNIONS are an inherited, progressive problem, that if left untreated, may cause joint damage. Treatment options can vary. If surgery is indicated, it is performed out-patient with state-of-the-art procedures that allows same day walking and little or no time off work. If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain. *By the American Board of Podiatric Surgery

Q: I am a recent college graduate who applied for several responses from where I applied, none of the positions jumped out at me as being appealing enough to start my career until now. A buddy of mine was able to get me an interview with his financial firm. While he was able to get my foot in the door, the rest was up to me. I went through two interviews and was offered a position contingent upon a load of pre-employment screenings, involving things like personality profiles and background checks. I was contacted a few days back and informed that the offer made to me was being rescinded due to my background check showing a stupid felony thing from 4 years ago. I don't get it. My past should

(F) Advancement Opportunities

A: Congratulations on obtaining your degree. It was too bad that you finally fell into a position that, while you hadn't started yet, seemed to intrigue you. The truth is, while you refer to your dilemma as a "stupid felony thing", I don't believe others look at that in the same way. Even without knowing the nature of the situation, the word "felony" is quite broad. Think about it. Let us hypothetically assume the company has a strict policy toward clean background checks on all employees. And let's go one step further and interview an individual who had been arrested and convicted of check cashing fraud or theft. Will they take the risk? One other point that you failed to mention is during the course of all these forms and tests, whether or not the company had asked the question, "Have you ever been convicted of a felony"? If they did, think about how you answered it. In regard to your questions, "Should I go to the company and explain"... I would say, "no", put that one behind you. In regard to your second question, as to whether or not this is going to follow you around forever, I feel you need to prepare yourself for that. Prepare yourself in such a way, that you will know how to approach the situation should you be faced with it again. Honesty can do amazing things.
